Rockefeller Says Nixon Backs Views

Platform Talk Held; New Yorker Rejects No. 2 Spot Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Vice President Richard M. Nixon met in secret today and the governor declared Nixon agreed with his views on basic platform issues.

Rockefeller also said he had re-emphasized he would not be Nixon's running mate as vice presidential candidate and that Nixon respected his stand.

On the platform agreements, the governor asserted: "These constitute the basic positions for which I have been fighting."

"If," he added, "they are embodied in the Republican platform as adopted by the convention, they will constitute a platform that I can support with pride and vigor."

In a move to smooth over differences with the national convention only two days away, Nixon flew from Washington for the meeting at Rockefeller's Manhattan home.

The two were alone as they conferred, except for Rockefeller's press secretary, Robert McManus. But as they ranged over the platform issues they contacted members of the platform committee by phone.

In a statement issued after the meeting, Rockefeller announced they had achieved agreement on issues ranging from foreign policy and defense, to the national economy, farm policies, education and a program for civil rights.

It was Rockefeller's protest Friday that preliminary planks on such key issues were lacking strength that reportedly moved Nixon to try for an eleventh hour meeting of minds.

Nixon flew back to Washington this morning. A Nixon aide in the capital said the vice president would make no comment there on the meeting.

The talks lasted from 7:30 p.m. to 3:20 a.m. Many Republicans felt that if the two men came to general agreement it would pave the way for a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket.

But McManus said the governor made it clear this was out of the question. At a hastily summoned predawn conference at the governor's office, McManus told newsmen that Rockefeller had repeated his stand that he would not run in second place.

Asked if Nixon had asked the governor point-blank to do so, McManus replied: "No comment."

Rockefeller said he and Nixon agreed on the need for a post to assist the President in the whole area of national security and international affairs, as well as a similar post for domestic problems.

In civil rights, the governor declared, the GOP "must assure aggressive action to remove the remaining vestiges of segregation or discrimination in all areas of national life—voting and housing, schools and jobs."

Rockefeller said agreement also had been achieved on a defense policy to strengthen armed forces unity and enable the nation to counter both small local wars and atomic attacks.

He added that he and Nixon favored a vigorous program to bring about groupings of nations in the free parts of the world.

They both concluded Rockefeller said, that the national economic growth must be stepped up to meet mounting defense costs and the demands of an ever-increasing population.

Rockefeller and Nixon proposed aiding the farmer with a program of price supports and faster disposal of food surpluses, the governor said.

Other recommendations, he added, included a program for improved ways to resolve labor disputes endangering the national welfare, and increased federal aid for education.

Record 4,000 Line Newell's Parade Route

40 Groups Compete In March Climaxing Firemen's Carnival

An estimated 4,000 — probably a record crowd — lined Newell's streets Friday night for a volunteer firemen's parade highlighting a week-long benefit carnival that will close tonight.

Approximately 40 units filed past the judge's stand and hundreds attended the carnival at Clark Field following the parade.

The line of march included fire equipment from the tri-state area, bands and drum and bugle corps, a marchin unit, clowns, antique autos and a comedy group.

Capping the week-long schedule of activities will be a carnival tonight and a performance by two barbershop quartets from East Liverpool — the Colonials and Welcomeaires — at Clark Field. Zontini Amusements Co. of Wheeling is operating the carnival and rides. A matinee was held this afternoon for youngsters.

Parade Marshal Arnie Durham, a Hancock County sheriff's deputy, estimated the crowd at 4,000 or over, for probably the greatest turnout ever seen at a parade in Newell. The weatherman co - operated with a mild, balmy evening. Many were in short sleeves in an effort to remain cool while waiting for the parade to pass.

Prize-winners were:

Imperial, Pa., best junior band, $35; Rochester American Legion Post 498, first, and the Oakdale Boys Industrial Home, second best junior drum and bugle corps, $35 each; Wellsville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9285, best marching unit, $20; Imperial firemen, most men in line, (14), $10, Glenmoor volunteer firemen, best comedy group, $5.

5 Deaths Linked To Flames That Sweep Far Western States

By The Associated Press

More than 200,000 acres of the West's most rugged land was ablaze today. Thousands of men battled the flames. Five died in the process.

Lightning, and in some cases man himself, was responsible for the fires that caused damage in the millions of dollars and cost more millions to fight. In California alone, the loss was some 10 million dollars.

A note of cautious optimism, tempered by a 50-50 chance for more lightning in the pivotal point where Oregon, Idaho and Washington meet, crept into official reports. Temperatures were in the 90s. The fire outbreak was described as the worst in 30 years.

The dead included two-man crews of two World War II bombers converted for borate-bombing runs over the fires and another pilot killed making a water drop over a British Columbia fire. One B25 crashed in eastern Oreon and the other in Southern California.

More than 68,000 acres of Angeles National Forest lay charred, but fires slowed from their swift pace of previous days. The worst remaining was the Bootlegger Canyon fire on the east flank of the Magic Mountain fire.

A 46,000-acre northern California brush fire was stopped shy of San Simeon Castle, former home of the late William Randolph Hearst and now a state park, but approached within 10 miles of Paso Robles, some 200 miles south of San Francisco. The flames were unchecked by battling crews.

Lightning swept through Montana, leaving 30 new fires behind. Lt. Gov. Paul Cannon alerted the Montana National Guard to stand by as 20,000 acres burned. The blazes were in rugged terrain near Helena and Lewistown.

Some 900 men held their fire lines on 10,000 acres of burning forest in western Idaho near Idaho City, but another 9,000 acres of Payette National Forest timber burned unchecked.

Some 23,000 acres in the Wallowa-Whitman National Forest in Oregon and Washington burned. Some 4,000 men fought some 200 blazes, many out of control and some even unmanned.

Gainer To Fill Ballot Spot In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — A man whom Republican Gov. Cecil Underwood once wanted to serve in his administration will be on the November ballot as the Democratic nominee for West Virginia auditor.

He is former Budget Director Denzil Gainer, a veteran of 21 years of state government. Gainer was selected Friday by the state Democratic Executive Committee to fill the vacancy on the party's November ticket created by the death of Edgar B. Sims.

Gainer, 46-year-old former resident of Grantsville, was chosen over four other candidates whose names were placed in nomination.

Gainer received the endorsement of party leaders and candidates earlier in the day at a breakfast.

The vote was 32 for Gainer, 8 for former Insurance Commissioner Hugh N. Mills of Ravenswood, 8 for E. Van Dorsey of Beckley, 5 for John Jarrell of Madison and 2 for Herbert Marsh, long-time clerk of the Board of Public Works.

Court Rejects Union Move In Building Case

IBOP Answer Slated Aug. 20 In Civil Case Over Headquarters

LISBON — Construction of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters new $342,000 headquarters north of East Liverpool moves faster than a lawsuit to stop it.

One of the Brotherhood's counter-actions proved ineffective Friday, except from the standpoint of delay, as Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp overruled its demurrer to a petition filed by six potters. Heading the group is James M. Duffy of East Liverpool, former IBOP president.

The court gave the union until Aug. 20 to answer the petition and said the case will be heard on its merits as soon after that as possible.

In the action filed April 1, the plaintiffs asked that the Brotherhood be restrained from proceeding with construction, plus an order that it submit the building question to a vote of the trade.

After the 1959 convention in Montreal when delegates voted to proceed with construction, 11 locals — three more than the constitutional requirement-submitted referendum petitions to the Brotherhood, it alleged.

IBOP officers "improperly rejected" six of the petitions, the plaintiffs contend, on grounds they did not include a list of signatures of members voting on the proposition.

The plaintiffs did not post any bond when filing the petition and three days later the IBOP broke ground for the new building on a 10-acre tract on Route 7.

Supporting the demurrer, IBOP counsel said the petition should be thrown out because the plaintiffs, as individuals, have no right to bring an action against the Brotherhood. Only the locals may so proceed, he said.

Judge Sharp said he was unable to follow the defense contention that because a referendum petition can be submitted only by local

Wellsville, Newell Boys Hospitalized In Separate Mishaps

A Newell youngster and a Wellsville boy were injured critically Friday afternoon when struck by vehicles in separate accidents.

William Spurlock, 12, of Washington School Rd. is in "poor" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when he was struck by an auto while on Route 66 at Newell. He is a son of Ernest Spurlock.

The Newell boy suffered two fractures of the left leg, a laceration of the left arm and abrasions of the entire face.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said the youngster was walking toward 8th St. with some other boys when he darted into the path of a Wheeling motorist.

The force of the impact threw the boy onto the hood of the auto driven by Alan Young, 36, of Wheeling R. D. 4. The boy was given emergency treatment at the scene by ambulance attendants and an

Fair's Game Stirs Hassle With Council

Councilmen Convene To Seek Solution To Apparent Stand-Off

Chester City Council was attempting to seek a solution late this morning to halt a mass resignation of volunteer firemen, who threatened to quit unless permitted to operate a bingo game at their annual fair scheduled to open Monday night at City Park.

The councilmen and Mayor Ray Collins were meeting behind closed doors and declined to answer repeated telephone calls.

Firemen also were holding a special meeting in the fire station. They handed an ultimatum to Council Friday night after Mayor Collins told Fire Chief William H. Glover "Anything illegal will not be permitted in the city."

Glover, a city mailman who was not available this morning for comment, questioned the mayor on the legality of bingo in a conference last night.

The mayor said a check of the state law showed bingo is considered a lottery and lotteries are illegal.

The mayor declined to make any further statement on his conversation with the fire chief.

Asked about the rumors the firemen may resign, Collins commented: "Whether it is true or not, I don't know. I hope not."

"However, the city will not be without protection," he declared.

Apparently also at stake is the entire operation of the fair next week. Firemen generally operate a bingo stand at the fair.

All five councilmen reportedly attended the meeting with the firemen last night. Mayor Collins said he did not attend because he was out of town.

The mayor said he was at the

Approximately 14 organizations will operate concession stands, with some conducting more than one. In addition, the Boy Scouts will have an exhibit and some 17 firms will have commercial displays, the chairman added. The Purple and Gold Band Mothers will operate a lunch stand.

Court Rejects Union Move In Building Case

IBOP Answer Slated Aug. 20 In Civil Case Over Headquarters

LISBON — Construction of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters new $342,000 headquarters north of East Liverpool moves faster than a lawsuit to stop it.

One of the Brotherhood's counter-actions proved ineffective Friday, except from the standpoint of delay, as Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp overruled its demurrer to a petition filed by six potters. Heading the group is James M. Duffy of East Liverpool, former IBOP president.

The court gave the union until Aug. 20 to answer the petition and said the case will be heard on its merits as soon after that as possible.

In the action filed April 1, the plaintiffs asked that the Brotherhood be restrained from proceeding with construction, plus an order that it submit the building question to a vote of the trade.

After the 1959 convention in Montreal when delegates voted to proceed with construction, 11 locals — three more than the constitutional requirement-submitted referendum petitions to the Brotherhood, it alleged.

IBOP officers "improperly rejected" six of the petitions, the plaintiffs contend, on grounds they did not include a list of signatures of members voting on the proposition.

The plaintiffs did not post any bond when filing the petition and three days later the IBOP broke ground for the new building on a 10-acre tract on Route 7.

Supporting the demurrer, IBOP counsel said the petition should be thrown out because the plaintiffs, as individuals, have no right to bring an action against the Brotherhood. Only the locals may so proceed, he said.

Judge Sharp said he was unable to follow the defense contention that because a referendum petition can be submitted only by local

A Newell youngster and a Wellsville boy were injured critically Friday afternoon when struck by vehicles in separate accidents.

William Spurlock, 12, of Washington School Rd. is in "poor" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when he was struck by an auto while on Route 66 at Newell. He is a son of Ernest Spurlock.

The Newell boy suffered two fractures of the left leg, a laceration of the left arm and abrasions of the entire face.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said the youngster was walking toward 8th St. with some other boys when he darted into the path of a Wheeling motorist.

The force of the impact threw the boy onto the hood of the auto driven by Alan Young, 36, of Wheeling R. D. 4. The boy was given emergency treatment at the scene by ambulance attendants and an

Fair's Game Stirs Hassle With Council

Councilmen Convene To Seek Solution To Apparent Stand-Off

Chester City Council was attempting to seek a solution late this morning to halt a mass resignation of volunteer firemen, who threatened to quit unless permitted to operate a bingo game at their annual fair scheduled to open Monday night at City Park.

The councilmen and Mayor Ray Collins were meeting behind closed doors and declined to answer repeated telephone calls.

Firemen also were holding a special meeting in the fire station. They handed an ultimatum to Council Friday night after Mayor Collins told Fire Chief William H. Glover "Anything illegal will not be permitted in the city."

Glover, a city mailman who was not available this morning for comment, questioned the mayor on the legality of bingo in a conference last night.

The mayor said a check of the state law showed bingo is considered a lottery and lotteries are illegal.

The mayor declined to make any further statement on his conversation with the fire chief.

Asked about the rumors the firemen may resign, Collins commented: "Whether it is true or not, I don't know. I hope not."

"However, the city will not be without protection," he declared.

Apparently also at stake is the entire operation of the fair next week. Firemen generally operate a bingo stand at the fair.

All five councilmen reportedly attended the meeting with the firemen last night. Mayor Collins said he did not attend because he was out of town.

The mayor said he was at the

Monday Night Debut Set For Chester Event

The annual Chester firemen's fair will open Monday night at City Park and continue through Saturday, with rides and concession stands as the features.

The fair will open each night at 7, Alvin Johnston, general chairman, said. Two special features will be presentation of a new American flag to the Park Commission on Friday night and a "crate" derby Saturday afternoon for youngsters under the auspices of the Lions Club.

The Heck Amusement Co. will operate eight rides, Johnston said, explaining strips of tickets can be purchased from firemen at reduced rates. Tickets purchased on the grounds will be higher, he added.

Approximately 14 organizations will operate concession stands, with some conducting more than one. In addition, the Boy Scouts will have an exhibit and some 17 firms will have commercial displays, the chairman added. The Purple and Gold Band Mothers will operate a lunch stand.

On Friday night, the Grant District Burial Group will present the new national emblem to the commission after properly disposing of the old flag in a flag-burning ceremony.

The "crate" derby will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday on Indiana Ave. between 3rd and 5th Sts.

Four entries have been received so far, George Durbin, chairman, said, and other entries will be accepted until Friday night. They can be secured at the D'angleo Shoe Repair shop.

Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 will be awarded the top three winners in each of three weight classes, he said.

office this morning to conduct a hearing. At the time, three councilmen also were present, but no talks had been held, the mayor said.

Asked if the councilmen were present to meet with firemen, Collins answered: "I imagine."

The department has approximately 21 members, but it was not learned whether all are affected in the dispute.

The mayor's announcement this morning that he will not permit any illegal operations reiterated a stand he took Wednesday night at Council's meeting, when a delegation of four ministers and some 10 laymen appeared to ask enforcement of laws.

Following the meeting, the mayor personally notified all tavern owners and two service organizations of the crackdown.

Most of the discussion at Council's meeting apparently hinged around the illegal sale of whiskey, but in his warning the mayor covered all illegal operations.

Wine Flows, Woozy Bears Rock 'n Roll

TRENT, Italy (AP) — Woodsmen near this Alpine town are still talking about the wildest bear dance since Salome shed the seventh veil.

It had every right to be a winging ding since the two performing bears lapped up the better part of 250 quarts of wine between them.

Anyway you want to look at bears or wine, that's a skin-full.

Prof. Peter Krott, custodian of the animals, has been here for some time keeping tabs on their habits, all for the sake of science.

But the two bears sneaked out on the professor a couple of nights ago—and woodsmen of Lares in the valley of Genoa, near Trent, tell the rest of the tale:

The two prowlers raided a temporarily abandoned Alpine camp and ate their fill of sausage and other stored supplies.

Then they found, upturned and opened, five 50-quart demijohns of north Italian wine and got a jag-sized snootful.

The two bears reared up on their hind legs and tried everything from the Charleston to rock 'n' roll.

"Man," the amazed woodsmen told townsfolk afterward, "there never was anything like it."

Leetonia Man Struck By Car

A Leetonia area pedestrian was injured late Friday afternoon when struck by a car while walking along Township Rd. 789, a mile east of Route 164 in Fairfield Township, the State Highway Patrol reported.

John Binder, 70, of Leetonia R. D. 2 received a laceration of the left palm and contusions of the right hip when struck by a car operated by Orin Cole, 18, of Washingtonville, the patrol said.

A collision at 5:15 p. m. on Alternate Route 14, just west of Washingtonville, involved westbound autos driven by Margaret Wilkinson, 39, of Washingtonville, making a left turn, and Fred Watt, 21, of Salem.

The patrol cited the woman for changing lanes without caution and Watt for failing to give an audible signal as he overtook her car.

No one was injured last night when a car operated by Anderson Smith Jr., 16, of 1296 Sunnyside Ave., East Liverpool, went off the berm and rolled over an embankment on the Y. & O. Rd., west of Glenmoor, the patrol said. Smith was turning the car around, the patrol said.

office this morning to conduct a hearing. At the time, three councilmen also were present, but no talks had been held, the mayor said.

Asked if the councilmen were present to meet with firemen, Collins answered: "I imagine."

The department has approximately 21 members, but it was not learned whether all are affected in the dispute.

The mayor's announcement this morning that he will not permit any illegal operations reiterated a stand he took Wednesday night at Council's meeting, when a delegation of four ministers and some 10 laymen appeared to ask enforcement of laws.

Following the meeting, the mayor personally notified all tavern owners and two service organizations of the crackdown.

Most of the discussion at Council's meeting apparently hinged around the illegal sale of whiskey, but in his warning the mayor covered all illegal operations.

Wine Flows, Woozy Bears Rock 'n Roll

TRENT, Italy (AP) — Woodsmen near this Alpine town are still talking about the wildest bear dance since Salome shed the seventh veil.

It had every right to be a winging since the two performing bears lapped up the better part of 250 quarts of wine between them.

Anyway you want to look at bears or wine, that's a skin-full.

Prof. Peter Krott, custodian of the animals, has been here for some time keeping tabs on their habits, all for the sake of science.

But the two bears sneaked out on the professor a couple of nights ago—and woodsmen of Lares in the valley of Genoa, near Trent, tell the rest of the tale:

The two prowlers raided a temporarily abandoned Alpine camp and ate their fill of sausage and other stored supplies.

Then they found, upturned and opened, five 50-quart demijohns of north Italian wine and got a jag-sized snootful.

The two bears reared up on their hind legs and tried everything from the Charleston to rock 'n' roll.

"Man," the amazed woodsmen told townsfolk afterward, "there never was anything like it."

Leetonia Man Struck By Car

A Leetonia area pedestrian was injured late Friday afternoon when struck by a car while walking along Township Rd. 789, a mile east of Route 164 in Fairfield Township, the State Highway Patrol reported.

John Binder, 70, of Leetonia R. D. 2 received a laceration of the left palm and contusions of the right hip when struck by a car operated by Orin Cole, 18, of Washingtonville, the patrol said.

Cole was headed east and was rounding a curve when he went off the road and struck Binder. He was cited for reckless driving.

A collision at 5:15 p. m. on Alternate Route 14, just west of Washingtonville, involved westbound autos driven by Margaret Wilkinson, 39, of Washingtonville, making a left turn, and Fred Watt, 21, of Salem.

The patrol cited the woman for changing lanes without caution and Watt for failing to give an audible signal as he overtook her car.

No one was injured last night when a car operated by Anderson Smith Jr., 16, of 1296 Sunnyside Ave., East Liverpool, went off the berm and rolled over an embankment on the Y. & O. Rd., west of Glenmoor, the patrol said. Smith was turning the car around, the patrol said.

Officers said the Wellsville boy darted into the street from behind a parked bus and ran into the path of the state truck driven by Floyd D. Hall, 807 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville.

Hall, who was headed, east on Clark, swerved in an attempt to miss the boy and drove the truck up over the curb.

No Parleys Scheduled In Dredge Crew Strike

A strike of about 35 crewmen of two Dravo Corp. dredge boats which were working the Ohio River in the East Liverpool area, continuing with no sign of a break, will be five weeks old Sunday.

A striker who lives in Newell said no negotiations are in sight. He said the men, members of the National Maritime Union, "will not work without a contract." The old contract was extended June 30, 1959, until after the steel strike.

Both dredge boats are tied up at Neville Island at Pittsburgh. Dredge No. 16 was working off Wellsville and Dredge No. 9 was near the Stratton "super dam."

Council Plans Extra Session

Council will meet in special session Monday night at 7:30 to consider legislation authorizing a supplementary contract for engineering work in connection with the proposed California Hollow - West End freeway, including relocation of sanitary sewers and water lines, installation of lighting facilities and resurfacing of the W. 3rd St. approach to the new highway.

Action on the resolution was held up at the session last Monday to give councilmen an opportunity to investigate questions about the project in West End — particularly to learn what arrangements will be made for sewage service to homes on Edgewood Ave., Chestnut St. Ext. and John St. when a Chestnut St. sewer is removed from the right - of - way.

Learning that the engineering work will include provisions for sewage service for 8 homes in the affected stretch, Council agreed yesterday to consider the legislation.

Three members exercised their prerogative to call a special meeting. They are Councilmen Clinton R. Seevers, John Melvin and Donald Hancock.

Seevers, who lives in the affected area, said he declined to act upon the legislation until it was determined the engineering work would include plans for sewage service for four homes on Edgewood Ave., one on Chestnut St. Ext. and three on John St. At present, the sewer which serves the homes empties into a Chestnut St. line which is scheduled to be removed as part of the freeway project, he explained.

Council also may act on some other legislation, including an ordinance which authorizes City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate to deduck union dues from the paychecks of municipal employes and turn over the funds to the local of which they are members.

Disarmament Talk Bid Hit As Too Early

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States ran into opposition today in its bid for a meeting of the U.N. Disarmament Commission "early in August."

U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Friday asked the chairman of the 82-nation commmission, Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, to call the early session. Some diplomats said the United States wanted a meeting Aug. 5.

Lodge said the commmission should discuss the breakdown of the 10-nation East-West disarmament talks in Geneva June 27 when the Communist side walked out.

One key delegate told a reporter he had talked with 20 colleagues and found that none was in favor of meeting before the end of August. He said delegations needed time to consult their governments.

Fund Cleared For Township

A 1961 budget of $46,115 was approved Friday night by Liverpool Township trustees.

Showing "very little" difference from the budget for this year, it will be submitted to the County Budget Commission at Lisbon for approval, Simon Hall, clerk, said.

The budget lists $10,140 for the general fund and $18,800 for roads and streets to be received from property taxes, Hall said. In addition, the township also anticipates $2,500 from motor vehicle licenses, $8,000 from gasoline tax and $6,675 from a 1.3-mill fire levy.

The trustees decided to secure data on all township roads to be filed for future reference. It will include length, width, and the amount of slag or oil used.

Township road crews this week oiled and slagged Boring Ln., Gladys Ave., Ada St. and Cyrus St., all in the LaCroft area, while county highway crews applied blade mix blacktop to Richardson Ave., Densmore Ave., Sherwood Ave., Southview Dr., part of Blackmore St., Dairy Ln., Olmstead Acres and Crestview Dr.

The next meeting will be Aug. 5 at City Hall.

No Parleys Scheduled In Dredge Crew Strike

A strike of about 35 crewmen of two Dravo Corp. dredge boats which were working the Ohio River in the East Liverpool area, continuing with no sign of a break, will be five weeks old Sunday.

A striker who lives in Newell said no negotiations are in sight. He said the men, members of the National Maritime Union, "will not work without a contract." The old contract was extended June 30, 1959, until after the steel strike.

Both dredge boats are tied up at Neville Island at Pittsburgh. Dredge No. 16 was working off Wellsville and Dredge No. 9 was near the Stratton "super dam."

Council Plans Extra Session

Council will meet in special session Monday night at 7:30 to consider legislation authorizing a supplementary contract for engineering work in connection with the proposed California Hollow - West End freeway, including relocation of sanitary sewers and water lines, installation of lighting facilities and resurfacing of the W. 3rd St. approach to the new highway.

Action on the resolution was held up at the session last Monday to give councilmen an opportunity to investigate questions about the project in West End — particularly to learn what arrangements will be made for sewage service to homes on Edgewood Ave., Chestnut St. Ext. and John St. when a Chestnut St. sewer is removed from the right - of - way.

Learning that the engineering work will include provisions for sewage service for 8 homes in the affected stretch, Council agreed yesterday to consider the legislation.

Three members exercised their prerogative to call a special meeting. They are Councilmen Clinton R. Seevers, John Melvin and Donald Hancock.

Seevers, who lives in the affected area, said he declined to act upon the legislation until it was determined the engineering work would include plans for sewage service for four homes on Edgewood Ave., one on Chestnut St. Ext. and three on John St. At present, the sewer which serves the homes empties into a Chestnut St. line which is scheduled to be removed as part of the freeway project, he explained.

Council also may act on some other legislation, including an ordinance which authorizes City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate to deduck union dues from the paychecks of municipal employes and turn over the funds to the local of which they are members.

An open cash register drawer contained 15 pennies which were overlooked. The station is operated by Carroll Dingess of Newell Heights and Herman Dingess of St. George St., East Liverpool.

Disarmament Talk Bid Hit As Too Early

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States ran into opposition today in its bid for a meeting of the U.N. Disarmament Commission "early in August."

U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Friday asked the chairman of the 82-nation commmission, Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, to call the early session. Some diplomats said the United States wanted a meeting Aug. 5.

Lodge said the commmission should discuss the breakdown of the 10-nation East-West disarmament talks in Geneva June 27 when the Communist side walked out.

One key delegate told a reporter he had talked with 20 colleagues and found that none was in favor of meeting before the end of August. He said delegations needed time to consult their governments.

Fund Cleared For Township

A 1961 budget of $46,115 was approved Friday night by Liverpool Township trustees.

Showing "very little" difference from the budget for this year, it will be submitted to the County Budget Commission at Lisbon for approval, Simon Hall, clerk, said.

The budget lists $10,140 for the general fund and $18,800 for roads and streets to be received from property taxes, Hall said. In addition, the township also anticipates $2,500 from motor vehicle licenses, $8,000 from gasoline tax and $6,675 from a 1.3-mill fire levy.

The trustees decided to secure data on all township roads to be filed for future reference. It will include length, width, and the amount of slag or oil used.

Township road crews this week oiled and slagged Boring Ln., Gladys Ave., Ada St. and Cyrus St., all in the LaCroft area, while county highway crews applied blade mix blacktop to Richardson Ave., Densmore Ave., Sherwood Ave., Southview Dr., part of Blackmore St., Dairy Ln., Olmstead Acres and Crestview Dr.

The next meeting will be Aug. 5 at City Hall.

Take Your Bow, John Q.

It is good to know the U.S. Treasury showed a surplus of $1,100,000,000 in the 12 months ending last June 30. This will come in handy for Republicans in the forthcoming campaign. They can point to it with pride.

But the credit belongs to John Q. Citizen, the all-American taxpayer. He did the whole thing with his income taxes. He showered down so much more money on the U.S. Treasury in those 12 months than expected that its cup ran over.

It is a matter of deep concern to John Q. and his breed that this was done involuntarily. Taxpayers would have preferred a cutback in punitive tax rates. They would have preferred a cutback in the spending rates that justify punitive tax rates. But no one ever asks taxpayers what they want any more. Only spenders are consulted.

Taxpayers are told what is good for them. They are supposed to accept ever-higher outlays for military expenditures. They are urged to keep their mouths shut and be happy about multi-billion-dollar outlays for foreign aid, even when they are reminded that the beneficiaries are gnawing on the hand that feeds them.

Currently they are being told with conviction by a coterie of figure wizards that they should yield another pint of their blood to bring the GNP up to a five per cent growth rate PDQ.

They are supposed to grin and bear it when they hear the old story about doing their bit to bring up farm income—a story that gets on the nerves when heard often enough, especially if the listeners are farmers who aim to support the government, instead of vice versa.

A BILLION dollars and a few million more are trifling in comparison with the sum that would disappear in a genuine tax reduction. It would be like splitting a peach eight ways; no one would get anything. All the surplus means, actually, is that there was no deficit. Things were a little better than expected. Taxes were high enough to cover spending.

In another time and under another philosophy of government, this would be the signal for tax reduction. But no one mentions tax reduction any more. Instead, both political parties fill the air with promises to hand out money, which is a butter-tongued way of promising to collect more taxes in one form or another, including the form dollar depreciation, which is indirect taxation.

When political parties write platforms, they don't even call in little taxpayers for opinions. They throw around composite statistics, as national income and taxes as if there were no human beings behind them; as if citizens didn't have to do without things they needed and forget things they wanted to do because taxes had first claim on everything they earned.

THOUGHTS like these flit through the minds of the John Q. Publics of the republic occasionally. But no one speaks for the John Q. Publics any more, not in the high places of government. Taxpayers are just one source of the grease that keeps big wheels from squeaking.

But it would be tactful under the circumstances to acknowledge a debt of gratitude to individual taxpayers for going over the quota in the latest fiscal year. It was thanks to them alone that there is a surplus to talk about in the 1960 campaign. Corporation taxes slumped.

Sizing Up The Images

We are still in the novelty phase of television's impact on presidential politics. It may be a long time before we grow out of it, with four years elapsing between presidential campaigns.

If we're lucky, we may never grow out of it. We may never lose that extra edge of interest which Americans showed again last week while watching and hearing the Democratic national convention as well as reading about it.

It is still fascinating to see how the public image of a private person is created on television. The newest is the image of John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee.

Samuel Lubell has pointed out that his own door-to-door question-asking has shown that many people think Robert Kennedy, who asked questions for the Senate Rackets Committee, is his brother, John. But it's John, not Robert, who is running for president. Robert is helping, but he is not the candidate. This udalism, itself, is part of the Kennedy image.

The finishing touch was put on the image Friday night in the vast Los Angeles Coliseum when John Kennedy accepted the Democratic nomination and told what he thought were the important things ahead.

He revealed much of extraordinary interest, but chiefly that his theme, with modifications, will be: Let's leave the past behind; let's move to new frontiers.

TO MAKE this theme plausible, the new candidate will have to discredit and discount the past and present. Although this is never hard to do when there is widespread dissatisfaction, as there was in 1932 when Franklin Roosevelt said it was time for a change, it can backfire, as it did in 1944 when Thomas E. Dewey said the same thing.

The Kennedy theme that the American people are fed up with everything and should jump at marching behind a new leader toward a "new frontier" is no accident. Nothing ever is, evidently, in the Kennedy organization's operation. It is the New Deal and the Fair Deal in modern dress.

The information about popular psychology on which the theme presumably is based may be subject to differing interpretations, however.

That will be in the province of Vice President Nixon, as chief spokesman for the Republicans.

There will be nothing new about the image of Mr. Nixon as a presidential candidate, when it's his turn to appear on convention television. He will be the same figure he has been since he was elected vice president in 1952—the man who is—the official on the scene—the tangible present.

Mr. Nixon's image in the Republican convention next week will be that of the defender of all who think the past must have been pretty good, that the present is, too, the future is not likely to be much better.

He will have to take the role of challenger to the proposition that a new would-be leader can make all the bogeymen in this troubled world go away by some new set of incantations and more federal spending.

He will have to say to the American people that incantations in 1960, like Franklin Roosevelt's famous "tree belt" in 1932, cannot dissolve any of the problems that never change, such as the problems of taxpayers who get stuck with the bill for pie-in-the-sky government.

This isn't going to make Richard Nixon's image as rosy as the image of John Kennedy, but the image will be a shade more plausible.

Not all Americans, after all, are so unhappy they want to forget a glorious past, a reasonably satisfactory present and turn, starry-eyed, to a future in which the brightest detail would be a planned economy administered by John (or would it be Bob, or might it be Ted?) Kennedy.

Don't Forget Debbie

A great part of the fanfare that went with the start of the "Dollars For Debbie" drive is disappearing and the hard work of any such fund campaign lies ahead.

From now on it will be a matter of "Digging" for the dollars so urgently needed to help meet the medical expenses incurred by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McElroy in seeking a cure for the ailment which has struck their daughter.

There's no doubt as to the community's feeling that something should be done to help the girl. More than verbal support is necessary, however. The dollars must flow as well.

The drive shouldn't be allowed to lag. Both Debbie and the Lions Club, which originated the campaign and is working so hard in its behalf, deserve your support. If you haven't contributed, do so at once.

Jobs Well Done

Congratulations are in order for two Hancock County women who have been elected to high posts in the West Virginia 8 & 40 Society — the women's branch of the American Legion.

Mrs. Thelma Merriman of Chester is the new president and Mrs. Mae Hupp of Newell the new secretary.

Their advancements speak well for their previous service. Seldom does such recognition come without merit.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Shudda Haddim, famed $2 bettor and race chart follower sizes up presidential race as follows:

Jackie K. — Boston Farms entry; speedy but can go the route. The charts show sensational performances from the earliest races. The initial trials over Bay State tracks displayed winning performance and was the winner in the upset over Cabot Lodge's Boy. He went on to victories in the Potomac Handicap, Video Derby and Pompadour Futurity. He is sound, sturdy and dependable under all weights and triumphed in Los Angeles Weight for Age Stakes are over seasoned competitors. In last event he broke from the gate fast and was never headed, thus avoiding rough work on the turns. Now resting up at Hyannis Planatation for November Special.

Dickie N. — He has been prepped and pointed for this big one, but may suffer from the lack of competition. The record shows a photo finish against Nikita in Moscow Steeplechase, but was crowded in the South American Open. He is inclined to let leader set the pace. This one first attracted attention in Alger Hiss Pursuit Race and won the event through the sensational finish in the stretch. He has been running coupled with General Ike and had the benefit of strong campaigning. He is reported good on fast or slow track and is reported to like mud. Best effort needed.

GOV. ROCKEFELLER scorns vice presidential spot. It figures. His grandpa, John D., didn't get to the top playing second fiddle in an oil well . . . Four monkeys have been found in New York subways in the past three weeks. This puzzles us, especially since high subway fare makes it impossible to ride "for peanuts" any more.

Paul Butler has been proposed as Hollywood movie-czar. After what happened to him as party chairman, he is qualified to be a good judge of what constitutes excessive violence in or out of pictures. Either party could be a sure winner in November if it flashed a plank promising to end singing to end singing commercials.

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie

"Faith plays a very great part in our work," says Commissioner Emma Davies, glancing around the neat, two-story Faith Cottage. "Without it we would accomplish very little."

Indeed, faith and prayer are responsible for the very existence of the cottage itself, a refuge where women of the streets may retire to reorganize their lives.

For many years, Emma and her officers of the Salvation Army prayed daily to help these women. Her captains patrolled the streets of the King's Cross section of London trying to reach them. But there was neither money nor refuge for those who wanted to reform.

Emma appealed for a lease on a cottage which was being transferred to a railroad company but the outlook was dim until, while negotiations were going on, a 3,000-pound legacy arrived from an unknown benefactor in Canada. Faith Cottage became a reality.

The cottage is but one of Emma's accomplishments. She has worked with women and children in New Zealand, Ceylon and India. As commissioner, in charge of Women's Social Work in England, she holds the highest unmarried woma's rank in the Salvation Army.

'Women Want Recognition,' One Says

By Perle Mesta

Women, says Perle Mesta, are an asset. Why then are their talents sometimes ignored and why are they discriminated against? Victor Riesel asked this of the famed first lady of Washington's social circles. This is her reply.

Early this year when I was collecting material for my book, "Perle" (published by McGraw-Hill a few weeks ago) I had the privilege of interviewing many women leaders, in the political, professional, business and social worlds. In most cases this gave great impetus to mypride in American women of this era.

Since I was determined to devote pages in my book to freedom of women I went to see Alice Paul —the most dedicated crusader I have ever known despite her gentle Quaker aspect—on the status of the equal rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution now pending in both Houses of Congress.

Miss Paul, founder and former national chairman and now honorary national chairman of the National Woman's Party, is conversant with every shade of every opinion held by every member of Congress on the equal rights amendment. She has been engaged in campaigns for the freedom of women for 60 years or more.

I AM PROUD of the fact that I too have been in the battle for the freedom of women for more than 20 years and I now hold the post of vice chairman of the National Woman's Party, of which that sterling and indomitable Democrat from Pennsylvania, Emma Guffey Miller, is the national chairman. I am the accredited representative of the World and National Woman's Parties at the United Nations.

Most people are unaware that approximately 1,500 laws and regulations in the United States discriminate against women.

Why does the United States lag behind when other countries with brand new constitutions give women equal rights as a matter of course?

In this summer of political conventions my thoughts turn back to political conventions of other years. To me they are always fascinating as spectacles of democracy in action not to be found at any other time or any other place in the world. I can well understand why staunch Republican Alice Longworth sometimes attends both the Republican and the Democratic conventions. She certainly adds zest to both scenes with her razor-edged quips, astounding gift of repartee and political sagacity.

No one can deny that there is an allure to the chance of mingling with the men and women playing star roles on the political stage and perhaps the tingling satisfaction of having just a tip of the finger in the making of history.

SOME PEOPLE say I am Two-Party Perle—because I was a Republican before I became a Democrat. I acknowledge the soft impeachement that I have dearly beloved friends in both parties. I always give parties and go to parties at conventions. It is the best way I know to get in those telling words for candidates and issues.

There are more women officials, delegates and alternates on the roster at both political conventions this time than ever before. More women will vote in the November elections than ever before. Everyone knows that the women's vote is necessary for election.

The U.S. Census Bureau figures of July 1959 reveal that there are 55,250,000 potential women voters in this country: 3,378 more potential women voters than potential men voters. Both political parties protest that they do not have an authentic breakdown on just how many women's votes were cast for winning candidates in recent elections. Perhaps they are too scared to say.

All of us enjoy the wooing that is going on.

I do not want to betray any feminine secrets. However, I do not mind giving the political brethren some hints. They would be wise to put on their glasses to discover that women as a whole today want to participate in much more than the floss, fluff and trivia of political gatherings. Many of them inject vibrant notes of political acumen, practical service, iron endurance and enthusiasm into campaign pictures.

BESIDES WORRYING about what women will do, the political wiseacres are also worrying over what women want. For the most part the desires of the women today do not differ from those of women of other eras. They want food, shelter, clothing, health, safety, education and opportunities for their families and their neighbors. They want to insure the enrichment of life of the American people by making the fruits of the ingenuity, inventive genius and wizardry of the mid-20th Century available to them.

This is the time to pause to take a look at the splendid records of many women who have held and hold places in their party organizations and elective and appointive offices in the government.

Rep. Katherine St. George (R-NY) the banner bearer of the equal rights amendment in the House of Representatives, will serve with tact and authority as parlamentarian of the Republican National Convention.

The quick wit and rare gift of oratory of former Ambassador to Italy, Clare Booth Luce, makes her a valuable asset of the Republican Party. Clare has written her name high in the world of politics, literature and art.

What Of DiSalle?

By Duane E. Croft

He Insists His Eyes Aren't On Washington

COLUMBUS

A current political wisecrack around Ohio's capital city in the aftermath of the Democratic National Convention is in the form of a question:

"Do you think it will take Mike DiSalle two seconds or three to say 'yes' when Kennedy calls him from Washington?"

It reflects the speculation stirred up by the Ohio governor's early, and in the final analysis significant, support of Sen. John F. Kennedy's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Obviously, the political chatter goes, Gov. DiSalle would be in line for a reward in the form of a cabinet post if Sen. Kennedy wins the right to reside in the White House.

And obviously, the chatter proceeds, the governor would jump at the chance to go back to the hurly-burly of the Washington scene and escape the "routine" of Columbus life.

GOV. DiSALLE himself has thrown a few coals on the fire of speculation.

He has said repeatedly since he took his oath in January 1959 that he is not conducting his office with any thought beyond the end of his present term in January 1963—including a bid for re-election.

At the party conclave in Los Angeles, he said he did not want to commit himself to finishing out his gubernatorial term because he wanted to keep himself "mobile."

Nevertheless, many of the governor's friends and supporters discount such statements as the kind of talk a smart and active politician uses to keep himself from being taken for granted.

They doubt he would quit in the middle of his term, leaving high and dry the programs he is promoting in state government and the party organization he is building with the assistance of William Coleman, state Democratic chairman.

To reassure them, Gov. DiSalle has denied he is interested in any federal post or has any specific plans for packing up and moving. He repeated the denials last Monday at his first press conference after returning from Los Angeles.

WHICH OF THESE two types of statements can be taken at face value?

Both, the governor declares.

"When I said I didn't want to commit myself to finishing out my term," he declared in an interview, "I simply was pointing out the fact that we seldom know what's going to come up.

"When President Truman called me to Washington in 1950 to be price stabilizer, I was completely surprised. As mayor of Toledo, I could not have predicted the day before that this would happen.

"I don't know what national emergency might arise during which I could get a call to serve. But if that happened, I'd want to be in a position to go."

On the other hand, Gov. DiSalle said, he has no other thought at the moment than to finish out his term.

"No one seems to want to believe me," he said, looking his interviewer straight in the eye, "but this is the truth:

"I've never discussed with Jack Kennedy any job for myself. That's the way I wanted it.

"I've told him I want Ohio to be recognized. I don't want anything for myself."

THE GOVERNOR scoffs at the idea that he is so attracted to Washington life he would give up his office in Columbus to go to the national capital.

"It's just not logical," he said. "When I resigned the price stabilization post in February 1952, I could have stayed in Washington. That, in fact, is the usual pattern among people who have taken temporary jobs in Washington.

"But I like Toledo and I wanted to go back there. I did go back, and I wouldn't have done it if I'd felt some strong attraction for Washington life."

Besides, the governor asked, where do people get the idea that going to Washington would be an escape from "routine"?

"A cabinet post can be as routine as any other job," he declared. "Most of them certainly have a lot more routine about them than the job of governor of Ohio.

"Frankly, I can't think of a cabinet post I'd want."

MIGHT HE BE thinking in terms of a legislative post rather than an administrative one (Sen. Frank J. Lausche's present term expires in January 1963)?

"No, I'm not thinking beyond my present term.

"I've always believed that the best way to build a political career is to concentrate on doing the job at hand.

"I could not have handled the price stabilization job in Washington if I'd been concentrating on a political future. Practically every decision I had to make created some enemies."

To take Gov. DiSalle at face value, then, his position can be summed up like this: He likes being governor and plans to be governor until January 1963, but no man knows what may come up.

Youth And Religion

By Raymond Moley

In the struggle for the nomination, Sen. Kennedy's age and religion loomed up as two of his serious problems. Like any good politician when faced with apparent liabilities, he sought to turn them into assets.

Now that he is nominated, he may turn to more relevant matters. The issues which will distinguish the candidates one from the other are of critical concern.

Kennedy and his innumerable assistants did so well and were so earnest in meeting deficiencies that they over did it. It was made to appear that youth in itself is an indispensable quality in a president, and that anyone who opposed Kennedy was actuated by religious bigotry.

Youth in itself is no virtue. Its values, as George Bernard Shaw once suggested, are wasted on the young. Nor is gray hair, unless the brain underneath has acquired wisdom through experience.

But Kennedy has repeatedly made the point that only a president born lately can envision what is coming in the 1960s. He made the point that most of the world leaders today are men whose education was completed before the "good years" ended in 1914. This is not only a narrow view of education, but a lack of appreciation of what might be learned from the years before World War I.

IT WAS a mere gesture for Kennedy to parade an academic knowledge of the fact that from Theodore Roosevelt back through Napoleon and the younger Pitt to young men at the head of affairs.

In high school debating, an opponent could cite an equal number of older men who did quite well after middle life. Whatever Alexander knew, he learned from that wise philosopher who tutored him, Aristotle, and the younger Pitt came to eminence because he has a brilliant and mature father, the Earl of Chatham.

It is not that these men were young. It was what they knew and understood that counted.

It is no compliment to Catholics to imply that they will vote for a man solely because of his religion. Indeed, it is an affront to their capacity to make judgments on issues which go to the heart of what the candidates are proposing to support as national policy.

I have been chastised in letters from clergymen for saying that a man's religion is irrelevant when a selection is being made for a public trust. Religion, I still maintain, is not relevant if we are to believe as our constitution principles state, that in the United States there is a division between church and state and religion should not be a test for public office.

CATHOLICS will judge the candidates on the basis of their will and capacity to maintain and further the traditions of political and economic liberty and strength in the free world to oppose the Communist threat.

After the Republicans are finished with their convention, let us all get down to the serious business of making a choice which may well be the most momentous in more years than both candidates have lived.

Abby To Winny

Names of hurricanes for the 1960 season range from Abby to Winny. They are not mere whimsy. The Weather Bureau has a serious reason for giving hurricanes girls' names.

Use of short, easily remembered names avoids errors and speeds transmission of vital information between widely-scattered stations, ships at sea, and hurricane-hunting planes that fly into the center of the storms.

The names reduce confusion when two or more tropical cyclones occur at the same time. In 1950, for example, four unnamed hurricanes simultaneously whirled across the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean Sea and the Atlantic Ocean. Warnings about one storm were mistaken for another hundreds of miles away.

To avoid this kind of misunderstanding, hurricanes were designated by a phonetic alphabet (Able, Baker, Charlie, etc.) in 1951 and 1952. In 1953, the Weather Bureau began christening tropical disturbances in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico with girls' names. The first was a minor early-season storm called Alice.

Take Your Bow, John Q.

It is good to know the U.S. Treasury showed a surplus of $1,100,000,000 in the 12 months ending last June 30. This will come in handy for Republicans in the forthcoming campaign. They can point to it with pride.

But the credit belongs to John Q. Citizen, the all-American taxpayer. He did the whole thing with his income taxes. He showered down so much more money on the U.S. Treasury in those 12 months than expected that its cup ran over.

It is a matter of deep concern to John Q. and his breed that this was done involuntarily. Taxpayers would have preferred a cutback in punitive tax rates. They would have preferred a cutback in the spending rates that justify punitive tax rates. But no one ever asks taxpayers what they want any more. Only spenders are consulted.

Taxpayers are told what is good for them. They are supposed to accept ever-higher outlays for military expenditures. They are urged to keep their mouths shut and be happy about multi-billion-dollar outlays for foreign aid, even when they are reminded that the beneficiaries are gnawing on the hand that feeds them.

Currently they are being told with conviction by a coterie of figure wizards that they should yield another pint of their blood to bring the GNP up to a five per cent growth rate PDQ.

They are supposed to grin and bear it when they hear the old story about doing their bit to bring up farm income—a story that gets on the nerves when heard often enough, especially if the listeners are farmers who aim to support the government, instead of vice versa.

A BILLION dollars and a few million more are trifling in comparison with the sum that would disappear in a genuine tax reduction. It would be like splitting a peach eight ways; no one would get anything. All the surplus means, actually, is that there was no deficit. Things were a little better than expected. Taxes were high enough to cover spending.

In another time and under another philosophy of government, this would be the signal for tax reduction. But no one mentions tax reduction any more. Instead, both political parties fill the air with promises to hand out money, which is a butter-tongued way of promising to collect more taxes in one form or another, including the form dollar depreciation, which is indirect taxation.

When political parties write platforms, they don't even call in little taxpayers for opinions. They throw around composite statistics, as national income and taxes as if there were no human beings behind them; as if citizens didn't have to do without things they needed and forget things they wanted to do because taxes had first claim on everything they earned.

THOUGHTS like these flit through the minds of the John Q. Publics of the republic occasionally. But no one speaks for the John Q. Publics any more, not in the high places of government. Taxpayers are just one source of the grease that keeps big wheels from squeaking.

But it would be tactful under the circumstances to acknowledge a debt of gratitude to individual taxpayers for going over the quota in the latest fiscal year. It was thanks to them alone that there is a surplus to talk about in the 1960 campaign. Corporation taxes slumped.

Sizing Up The Images

We are still in the novelty phase of television's impact on presidential politics. It may be a long time before we grow out of it, with four years elapsing between presidential campaigns.

If we're lucky, we may never grow out of it. We may never lose that extra edge of interest which Americans showed again last week while watching and hearing the Democratic national convention as well as reading about it.

It is still fascinating to see how the public image of a private person is created on television. The newest is the image of John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee.

Samuel Lubell has pointed out that his own door-to-door question-asking has shown that many people think Robert Kennedy, who asked questions for the Senate Rackets Committee, is his brother, John. But it's John, not Robert, who is running for president. Robert is helping, but he is not the candidate. This udalism, itself, is part of the Kennedy image.

The finishing touch was put on the image Friday night in the vast Los Angeles Coliseum when John Kennedy accepted the Democratic nomination and told what he thought were the important things ahead.

He revealed much of extraordinary interest, but chiefly that his theme, with modifications, will be: Let's leave the past behind; let's move to new frontiers.

TO MAKE this theme plausible, the new candidate will have to discredit and discount the past and present. Although this is never hard to do when there is widespread dissatisfaction, as there was in 1932 when Franklin Roosevelt said it was time for a change, it can backfire, as it did in 1944 when Thomas E. Dewey said the same thing.

The Kennedy theme that the American people are fed up with everything and should jump at marching behind a new leader toward a "new frontier" is no accident. Nothing ever is, evidently, in the Kennedy organization's operation. It is the New Deal and the Fair Deal in modern dress.

The information about popular psychology on which the theme presumably is based may be subject to differing interpretations, however.

That will be in the province of Vice President Nixon, as chief spokesman for the Republicans.

There will be nothing new about the image of Mr. Nixon as a presidential candidate, when it's his turn to appear on convention television. He will be the same figure he has been since he was elected vice president in 1952—the man who is—the official on the scene—the tangible present.

Mr. Nixon's image in the Republican convention next week will be that of the defender of all who think the past must have been pretty good, that the present is, too, the future is not likely to be much better.

He will have to take the role of challenger to the proposition that a new would-be leader can make all the bogeymen in this troubled world go away by some new set of incantations and more federal spending.

He will have to say to the American people that incantations in 1960, like Franklin Roosevelt's famous "tree belt" in 1932, cannot dissolve any of the problems that never change, such as the problems of taxpayers who get stuck with the bill for pie-in-the-sky government.

This isn't going to make Richard Nixon's image as rosy as the image of John Kennedy, but the image will be a shade more plausible.

Not all Americans, after all, are so unhappy they want to forget a glorious past, a reasonably satisfactory present and turn, starry-eyed, to a future in which the brightest detail would be a planned economy administered by John (or would it be Bob, or might it be Ted?) Kennedy.

Don't Forget Debbie

A great part of the fanfare that went with the start of the "Dollars For Debbie" drive is disappearing and the hard work of any such fund campaign lies ahead.

From now on it will be a matter of "Digging" for the dollars so urgently needed to help meet the medical expenses incurred by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McElroy in seeking a cure for the ailment which has struck their daughter.

There's no doubt as to the community's feeling that something should be done to help the girl. More than verbal support is necessary, however. The dollars must flow as well.

The drive shouldn't be allowed to lag. Both Debbie and the Lions Club, which originated the campaign and is working so hard in its behalf, deserve your support. If you haven't contributed, do so at once.

Jobs Well Done

Congratulations are in order for two Hancock County women who have been elected to high posts in the West Virginia 8 & 40 Society — the women's branch of the American Legion.

Mrs. Thelma Merriman of Chester is the new president and Mrs. Mae Hupp of Newell the new secretary.

Their advancements speak well for their previous service. Seldom does such recognition come without merit.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Shudda Haddim, famed $2 bettor and race chart follower sizes up presidential race as follows:

Jackie K. — Boston Farms entry; speedy but can go the route. The charts show sensational performances from the earliest races. The initial trials over Bay State tracks displayed winning performance and was the winner in the upset over Cabot Lodge's Boy. He went on to victories in the Potomac Handicap, Video Derby and Pompadour Futurity. He is sound, sturdy and dependable under all weights and triumphed in Los Angeles Weight for Age. Stakes are over seasoned competitors. In last event he broke from the gate fast and was never headed, thus avoiding rough work on the turns. Now resting up at Hyannis Planatation for November Special.

Dickie N. — He has been prepped and pointed for this big one, but may suffer from the lack of competition. The record shows a photo finish against Nikita in Moscow Steeplechase, but was crowded in the South American Open. He is inclined to let leader set the pace. This one first attracted attention in Alger Hiss Pursuit Race and won the event through the sensational finish in the stretch. He has been running coupled with General Ike and had the benefit of strong campaigning. He is reported good on fast or slow track and is reported to like mud. Best effort needed.

GOV. ROCKEFELLER scorns vice presidential spot. It figures. His grandpa, John D., didn't get to the top playing second fiddle in an oil well . . . Four monkeys have been found in New York subways in the past three weeks. This puzzles us, especially since high subway fare makes it impossible to ride "for peanuts" any more.

Paul Butler has been proposed as Hollywood movie-czar. After what happened to him as party chairman, he is qualified to be a good judge of what constitutes excessive violence in or out of pictures. Either party could be a sure winner in November if it flashed a plank promising to end singing to end singing commercials.

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie

"Faith plays a very great part in our work," says Commissioner Emma Davies, glancing around the neat, two-story Faith Cottage. "Without it we would accomplish very little."

Indeed, faith and prayer are responsible for the very existence of the cottage itself, a refuge where women of the streets may retire to reorganize their lives.

For many years, Emma and her officers of the Salvation Army prayed daily to help these women. Her captains patrolled the streets of the King's Cross section of London trying to reach them. But there was neither money nor refuge for those who wanted to reform.

Emma appealed for a lease on a cottage which was being transferred to a railroad company but the outlook was dim until, while negotiations were going on, a 3,000-pound legacy arrived from an unknown benefactor in Canada. Faith Cottage became a reality.

The cottage is but one of Emma's accomplishments. She has worked with women and children in New Zealand, Ceylon and India. As commissioner, in charge of Women's Social Work in England, she holds the highest unmarried woma's rank in the Salvation Army.

'Women Want Recognition,' One Says

By Perle Mesta

Women, says Perle Mesta, are an asset. Why then are their talents sometimes ignored and why are they discriminated against? Victor Riesel asked this of the famed first lady of Washington's social circles. This is her reply.

Early this year when I was collecting material for my book, "Perle" (published by McGraw-Hill a few weeks ago) I had the privilege of interviewing many women leaders, in the political, professional, business and social worlds. In most cases this gave great impetus to mypride in American women of this era.

Since I was determined to devote pages in my book to freedom of women I went to see Alice Paul —the most dedicated crusader I have ever known despite her gentle Quaker aspect—on the status of the equal rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution now pending in both Houses of Congress.

Miss Paul, founder and former national chairman and now honorary national chairman of the National Woman's Party, is conversant with every shade of every opinion held by every member of Congress on the equal rights amendment. She has been engaged in campaigns for the freedom of women for 60 years or more.

I AM PROUD of the fact that I too have been in the battle for the freedom of women for more than 20 years and I now hold the post of vice chairman of the National Woman's Party, of which that sterling and indomitable Democrat from Pennsylvania, Emma Guffey Miller, is the national chairman. I am the accredited representative of the World and National Woman's Parties at the United Nations.

Most people are unaware that approximately 1,500 laws and regulations in the United States discriminate against women.

Why does the United States lag behind when other countries with brand new constitutions give women equal rights as a matter of course?

In this summer of political conventions my thoughts turn back to political conventions of other years. To me they are always fascinating as spectacles of democracy in action not to be found at any other time or any other place in the world. I can well understand why staunch Republican Alice Longworth sometimes attends both the Republican and the Democratic conventions. She certainly adds zest to both scenes with her razor-edged quips, astounding gift of repartee and political sagacity.

No one can deny that there is an allure to the chance of mingling with the men and women playing star roles on the political stage and perhaps the tingling satisfaction of having just a tip of the finger in the making of history.

SOME PEOPLE say I am Two-Party Perle—because I was a Republican before I became a Democrat. I acknowledge the soft impeachement that I have dearly beloved friends in both parties. I always give parties and go to parties at conventions. It is the best way I know to get in those telling words for candidates and issues.

There are more women officials, delegates and alternates on the roster at both political conventions this time than ever before. More women will vote in the November elections than ever before. Everyone knows that the women's vote is necessary for election.

The U.S. Census Bureau figures of July 1959 reveal that there are 55,250,000 potential women voters in this country: 3,378 more potential women voters than potential men voters. Both political parties protest that they do not have an authentic breakdown on just how many women's votes were cast for winning candidates in recent elections. Perhaps they are too scared to say.

All of us enjoy the wooing that is going on.

I do not want to betray any feminine secrets. However, I do not mind giving the political brethren some hints. They would be wise to put on their glasses to discover that women as a whole today want to participate in much more than the floss, fluff and trivia of political gatherings. Many of them inject vibrant notes of political acumen, practical service, iron endurance and enthusiasm into campaign pictures.

BESIDES WORRYING about what women will do, the political wiseacres are also worrying over what women want. For the most part the desires of the women today do not differ from those of women of other eras. They want food, shelter, clothing, health, safety, education and opportunities for their families and their neighbors. They want to insure the enrichment of life of the American people by making the fruits of the ingenuity, inventive genius and wizardry of the mid-20th Century available to them.

This is the time to pause to take a look at the splendid records of many women who have held and hold places in their party organizations and elective and appointive offices in the government.

Rep. Katherine St. George (R-NY) the banner bearer of the equal rights amendment in the House of Representatives, will serve with tact and authority as parlamentarian of the Republican National Convention.

The quick wit and rare gift of oratory of former Ambassador to Italy, Clare Booth Luce, makes her a valuable asset of the Republican Party. Clare has written her name high in the world of politics, literature and art.

Youth in itself is no virtue. Its values, as George Bernard Shaw once suggested, are wasted on the young. Nor is gray hair, unless the brain underneath has acquired wisdom through experience.

But Kennedy has repeatedly made the point that only a president born lately can envision what is coming in the 1960s. He made the point that most of the world leaders today are men whose education was completed before the "good years" ended in 1914. This is not only a narrow view of education, but a lack of appreciation of what might be learned from the years before World War I.

IT WAS a mere gesture for Kennedy to parade an academic knowledge of the fact that from Theodore Roosevelt back through Napoleon and the younger Pitt to young men at the head of affairs.

In high school debating, an opponent could cite an equal number of older men who did quite well after middle life. Whatever Alexander knew, he learned from that wise philosopher who tutored him, Aristotle, and the younger Pitt came to eminence because he has a brilliant and mature father, the Earl of Chatham.

It is not that these men were young. It was what they knew and understood that counted.

It is no compliment to Catholics to imply that they will vote for a man solely because of his religion. Indeed, it is an affront to their capacity to make judgments on issues which go to the heart of what the candidates are proposing to support as national policy.

I have been chastised in letters from clergymen for saying that a man's religion is irrelevant when a selection is being made for a public trust. Religion, I still maintain, is not relevant if we are to believe as our constitution principles state, that in the United States there is a division between church and state and religion should not be a test for public office.

CATHOLICS will judge the candidates on the basis of their will and capacity to maintain and further the traditions of political and economic liberty and strength in the free world to oppose the Communist threat.

After the Republicans are finished with their convention, let us all get down to the serious business of making a choice which may well be the most momentous in more years than both candidates have lived.

Abby To Winny

Names of hurricanes for the 1960 season range from Abby to Winny. They are not mere whimsy. The Weather Bureau has a serious reason for giving hurricanes girls' names.

Use of short, easily remembered names avoids errors and speeds transmission of vital information between widely-scattered stations, ships at sea, and hurricane-hunting planes that fly into the center of the storms.

The names reduce confusion when two or more tropical cyclones occur at the same time. In 1950, for example, four unnamed hurricanes simultaneously whirled across the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean Sea and the Atlantic Ocean. Warnings about one storm were mistaken for another hundreds of miles away.

To avoid this kind of misunderstanding, hurricanes were designated by a phonetic alphabet (Able, Baker, Charlie, etc.) in 1951 and 1952. In 1953, the Weather Bureau began christening tropical disturbances in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico with girls' names. The first was a minor early-season storm called Alice.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. OHIO'S BOARD OF STRATEGY for the first annual Penn-Ohio All-Star football game get together for a conference before a practice session at Mt. Union College in Alliance, where both teams are drilling for next Saturday's contest. Kneeling, left to right, are East Palestine's quarterback Willis Woods, Bud Bucher of Lisbon, head coach of the Ohio squad, and East Liverpool's All-Ohio quarterback Bob Mackall. Standing, left to right, are Howard Weyers of East Palestine and Pat Mancuso of Leetonia, who are assisting Bucher.

All-Star Gridders To Face Tough Workouts Next Week

Although no heavy contact work has started, Coach Bud Bucher of the Ohio squad and Willie Ciccone of New Castle, who is heading the Pennsylvania team, are rounding their gridders into shape at Alliance for the first Penn-Ohio football game next Saturday night at Patterson Field.

The teams will take a break Sunday and will be allowed to go home after this afternoon's workout. But both coaches served notice that it will be all work next week, with heavy scrimmage sessions set for both sides.

Impressive in early workouts have been Ohio's two quarterbacks, Bob Mackall of East Liverpool and Willis Woods of East Palestine, along with four fast halfbacks.

"Mackall can make a mistake, but with his speed can recover quickly," Bucher said. "Woods is a take charge guy who keeps his team fired up at all times."

"We are pretty well set for backs, including Pete Schmauch of Salem, Jim Summers of United and Bob Delposen of Wellsville.

"We need a lot of work on the line," Bucher continued. The Ohio mentor is attempting to shift his linemen around in an effort to find capable replacements for Bruce Reynolds of East Liverpool and Joe Julian of Salem, a pair of 200-pound tackles who failed to show up at the Mt. Union camp site.

Two more ends added to the Ohio squad arrived Friday. They are Tony Petrucci of Salem and Bill Robinson of Lisbon.

Meanwhile, in the Pennsylvania quarters, Chuck Brooks of South Side has replaced Rich Ashcroft, who decided to pass up the contest.

Kenny Russell of Midland, the sure-firing quarterback for the Leopards last season, is in the running for a quarterback spot.

Two other quarterbacks from the Keystone state are Bob Matale of New Castle and Bob Bathgate of Ellwood City.

Tickets for the All-Star game are on sale at Brian's Men's Store in East Liverpool. The East Palestine Jaycees are sponsoring the first annual grid classic, with proceeds going toward a scholarship fund.

Fish Are Where You Find Them—Ask Young Girls

Some local residents returned this week from a fishing trip in Canada with a story that points up the old saying that "The fish are where you find them."

Jane Goodman, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Goodman of Azalea St., and Billi Ann Smith, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Smith of Broadview Circle, are the heroines.

The two youngsters were left behind on the dock at Lake Kippawa near Lanell, Quebec, while some of the adults in the party hurried to a spot 15 miles across the lake where the "big ones" were reported to be biting.

Earlier, the girls had run across a small perch and were washing it in the lake on a string in hopes of having it mounted. While swishing the fish in the water, the girls got a "strike", which they went after in true Izaak Walton style. Their reward — a 27-inch northern pike!

When the adults returned, the girls proudly displayed the catch they made without having to leave camp.

Along with the Goodman and Smith families, the group included Mr. and Mrs. Bob Broadbent and family of East End, Pat Smusz of Chester and Mr. and Mrs. William Argabrite of Manor Ln.

Gelding Captures Trot In Last-To-First Run

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Ralph Abbe, a five-year-old brown gelding owned by Ray Hennesy of Bellefontaine, won his sixth race in 14 starts last night as he came up from last place to finish first in a featured handicap trot at the Hamilton Raceway.

Ralph Abbe, driven by Eugene Fogt, got away last from the starting gate in the field of eight and still was only seventh at the half mile. He moved up to fourth in the back stretch and then took charge in the last eighth of a mile to win by a half length in 2:07 4-5. The gelding paid $7.20, $4.00 and $3.00.

The Millionairess, which finished second, paid $7.60 and $5.20, and third place Mighty Indian paid $3.80.

Frisco Brewer, driven by Jerry Harry and owned by O. E. Metsker of Mayfield, Ky., won both ends of a divided class 20 trot.

He won the mile heat in 2:09, paying $17.20 to win and then came back to win the mile and a sixteenth second heat in 2:16 3-5. He paid $16.40 in that event.

The crowd of 2,588 wagered $80,133 in the mutuels.

Free Methodist Wins In Church League Play

Oakland Free Methodist defeated First Church of Christ, 5-4, in a YMCA Church Softball League game Friday. Roy Mort, who gave up nine hits, was the winning pitcher.

Oakland blasted 12 hits off Harry Wolfe, the losing hurler. They included home runs by Clyde Dillon and Bob Bickle. Dale Channels hit safely three times.

Tut Bartzen Meets Laver

CHICAGO (AP) — In a possible preview of Davis Cup championship competition, Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of the U.S. team and an Australian star, Rod Laver, meet in a semifinal battle today in the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament.

The winner will face the top man of the U.S. Davis Cuppers, Barry MacKay, for the championship Sunday.

The 32-year-old Bartzen, a precisionist who won the Clay Courts crown in 1954, 1958 and 1959, will be up against a powerful player in the red-haired Laver.

While Bartzen and Laver sat out men's singles competition Friday, MacKay turned on a burst of power and temperament in taking a three-hour marathon match from unseeded Jon Douglas, a 23-year-old Marine from Santa Monica, Calif.

In the 90-plus heat, MacKay overcame faulty net play to outlast Douglas 4-6, 6-4, 10-12, 6-3, 6-3.

The match ended with the 2,000 River Forest Tennis Club fans soundly booing the Davsi Cup star. MacKay, apparently disgusted by his numerous errors, sent his racket wizzing at the backcourt canvas during the 74-minute third set. It just missed the head of a ball boy and nearly crashed over the canvas into the crowd.

Later MacKay threw his racket toward the sidelines, making the net court judge duck. Then he started snarling at a ball boy. He threw a ball in the boy's direction and the lad began crying and was replaced.

Mizell Wins On Coast In 4-1 Contest

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Yep, those Pittsburgh Pirates really were falling apart. They lost five of seven and their National League lead was chopped to a mere half-game over the Milwaukee Braves. But now, the Bucs are booming again, padding their lead to 2½ games once more.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, shaky, but tough when things got rough, pitched the Pirates to a 4-1 victory at San Francisco Friday night. It was their second straight after that slump that followed the All-Star game break.

The Braves, after winning seven straight, dropped their second in succession, just barely missing with late home-run power in an 8-7 loss at Chicago to the last-place Cubs.

Los Angeles regained third place by beating Philadelphia 2-0 behind the four - hit, 14-strikeout pitching of right - hander Don Drysdale. St. Louis, just one percentage point behind the Dodgers, defeated Cincinnati 8-3 as Curt Simmons pitched his first complete game since 1958.

In the American League, the streaking Chicago White Sox closed within three percentage points of first - place New York, whipping the Yankees 11-5. Boston beat Cleveland 6-4, Baltimore defeated Detroit 2-1, and Kansas City won 9-4 at Washington.

Three runs in the fifth inning, capped by Bob Skinner's two-out, two-run single, brought the Pirates from behind. Willie Mays hit his 19th home run for the Giants in the first inning, but Mizell (6-5) then blanked them on eight hits.

Drysdale (8-10) tied the NL strikeout high for nine innings this season—fanning the last six men he faced—for his fourth straight victory and first shutout. Frank Howard's bases-empty home run, his 15th, beat Gene Conley (6-6) in the second inning.

Smimons, the southpaw who was released by the Phils, gained a 2-0 record with his first complete game in nine starts since Sept. 1, 1958. He allowed six hits, including homers by Frank Robinson and Willie Jones. The Cards scored three in the first, climaxed by Daryl Spencer's 12th home run, and then won it with two more in the third.

Rookie Ron Santo was 3-for-4 and drove in three runs for the Cubs, tagging relief pitcher Joey Jay for the clinching run with a solo homer, his second, in the seventh inning.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A State Highway Department employe was killed Friday when he fell from a tractor into a mower it was pulling on West Central Street near Crissey Road. He was Arthur Karpinski, 37, of Toledo. The tractor struck a steel rail imbedded in the ground, throwing him into the mower.

Jim Piersall Hits 2 More In 6-4 Loss

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Piersall, the Cleveland Indians' controversial center fielder, now has hit home runs in three successive games, including two homers Friday night.

Despite Piersall's effort, the Red Sox took a 6-4 decision over the Indians. Vic Wertz, who went to Boston in the trade that brought Piersall to Cleveland in 1958, hit a three-run homer and drove in a fourth run with a single.

Ted Williams lined a homer down the right field line in the first inning — his 15th this year and 507th of his major league career.

The Indians now are 2½ games behind league-leading New York, and 2½ games behind Chicago's White Sox, who are just a few percentage points behind the Yankees.

Piersall drove in three runs with his four-baggers. In the second inning, with Vic Power on base by way of a walk, Jim drove a homer over the left field screen and raced around the bases at top speed. John Temple's double off the left centerfield fence scored Hank Foiles, who had walked, making the score 3-1.

Wertz put the Red Sox ahead with his homer off Cleveland starter Jim Grant in the third inning, scoring Willie Tasby and Williams ahead of him.

Tasby had singled and Williams walked. It was Wertz' 11th of the season.

Boston made it 5-3 in the fifth when Wertz hit a single off Dick Stigman, scoring Pete Runnels. Grant had been removed after issuing walks to Runnels and Williams.

Piersall, first man up in the sixth inning, hit his second home run over the left field wall—No. 13 for the season — and jogged around the bases, hat in hand, shouting to the Red Sox and the fans all the way.

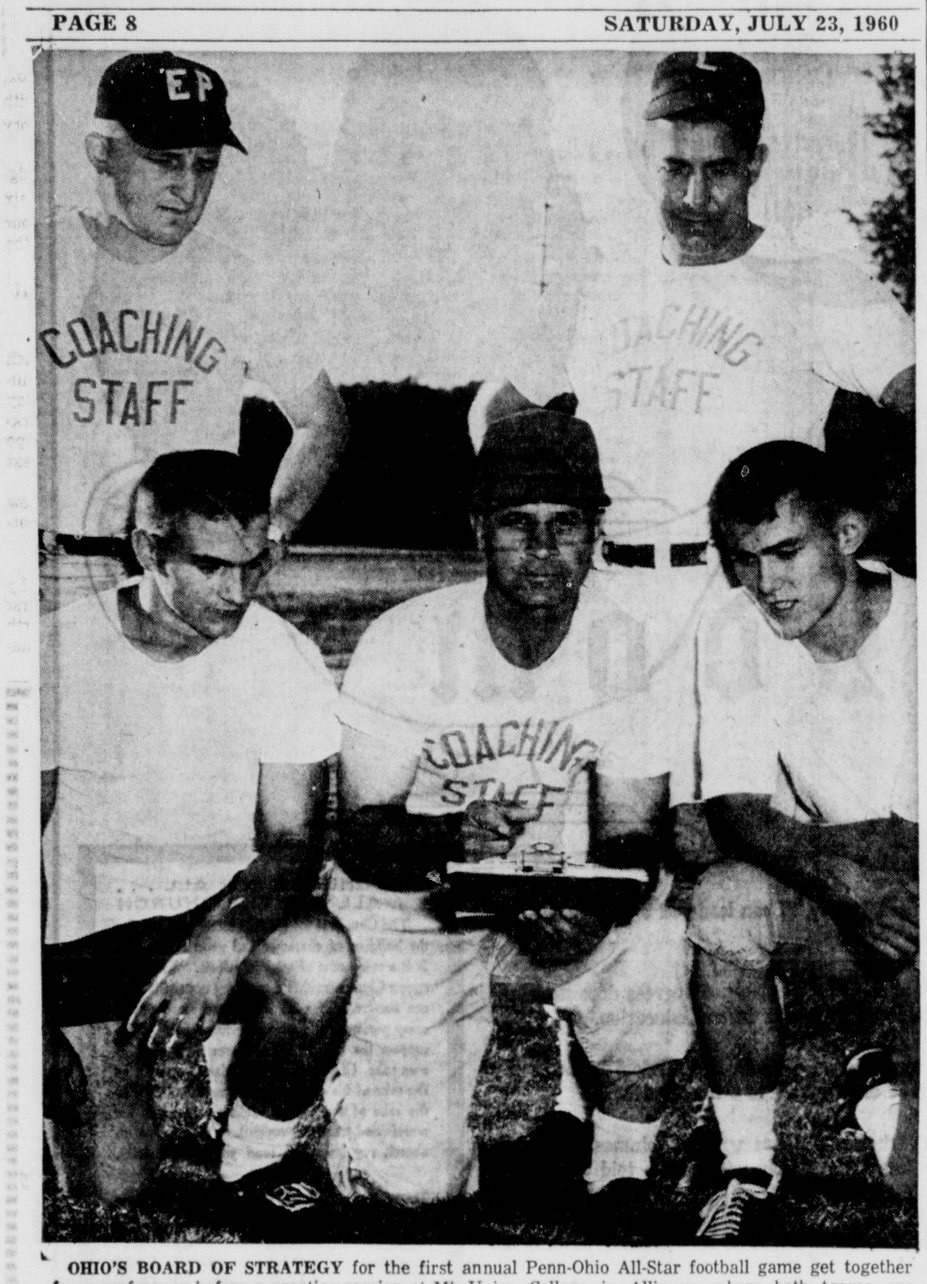
Indians Beaten As Home Runs Fly



OHIO'S BOARD OF STRATEGY for the first annual Penn-Ohio All-Star football game get together for a conference before a practice session at Mt. Union College in Alliance, where both teams are drilling for next Saturday's contest. Kneeling, left to right, are East Palestine's quarterback Willis Woods, Bud Bucher of Lisbon, head coach of the Ohio squad, and East Liverpool's All-Ohio quarterback Bob Mackall. Standing, left to right, are Howard Weyers of East Palestine and Pat Mancuso of Leetonia, who are assisting Bucher.

All-Star Gridders To Face Tough Workouts Next Week

Although no heavy contact work has started, Coach Bud Bucher of the Ohio squad and Willie Ciccone of New Castle, who is heading the Pennsylvania team, are rounding their gridders into shape at Alliance for the first Penn-Ohio football game next Saturday night at Patterson Field.

The teams will take a break Sunday and will be allowed to go home after this afternoon's workout. But both coaches served notice that it will be all work next week, with heavy scrimmage sessions set for both sides.

Impressive in early workouts have been Ohio's two quarterbacks, Bob Mackall of East Liverpool and Willis Woods of East Palestine, along with four fast halfbacks.

"Mackall can make a mistake, but with his speed can recover quickly," Bucher said. "Woods is a take charge guy who keeps his team fired up at all times."

"We are pretty well set for backs, including Pete Schmauch of Salem, Jim Summers of United and Bob Delposen of Wellsville.

"We need a lot of work on the line," Bucher continued. The Ohio mentor is attempting to shift his linemen around in an effort to find capable replacements for Bruce Reynolds of East Liverpool and Joe Julian of Salem, a pair of 200-pound tackles who failed to show up at the Mt. Union camp site.

Two more ends added to the Ohio squad arrived Friday. They are Tony Petrucci of Salem and Bill Robinson of Lisbon.

Meanwhile, in the Pennsylvania quarters, Chuck Brooks of South Side has replaced Rich Ashcroft, who decided to pass up the contest.

Kenny Russell of Midland, the sure-firing quarterback for the Leopards last season, is in the running for a quarterback spot.

Two other quarterbacks from the Keystone state are Bob Matale of New Castle and Bob Bathgate of Ellwood City.

Tickets for the All-Star game are on sale at Brian's Men's Store in East Liverpool. The East Palestine Jaycees are sponsoring the first annual grid classic, with proceeds going toward a scholarship fund.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, shaky, but tough when things got rough, pitched the Pirates to a 4-1 victory at San Francisco Friday night. It was their second straight after that slump that followed the All-Star game break.

The Braves, after winning seven straight, dropped their second in succession, just barely missing with late home-run power in an 8-7 loss at Chicago to the last-place Cubs.

Los Angeles regained third place by beating Philadelphia 2-0 behind the four - hit, 14-strikeout pitching of right - hander Don Drysdale. St. Louis, just one percentage point behind the Dodgers, defeated Cincinnati 8-3 as Curt Simmons pitched his first complete game since 1958.

In the American League, the streaking Chicago White Sox closed within three percentage points of first - place New York, whipping the Yankees 11-5. Boston beat Cleveland 6-4, Baltimore defeated Detroit 2-1, and Kansas City won 9-4 at Washington.

Three runs in the fifth inning, capped by Bob Skinner's two-out, two-run single, brought the Pirates from behind. Willie Mays hit his 19th home run for the Giants in the first inning, but Mizell (6-5) then blanked them on eight hits.

Drysdale (8-10) tied the NL strikeout high for nine innings this season—fanning the last six men he faced—for his fourth straight victory and first shutout. Frank Howard's bases-empty home run, his 15th, beat Gene Conley (6-6) in the second inning.

Smimons, the southpaw who was released by the Phils, gained a 2-0 record with his first complete game in nine starts since Sept. 1, 1958. He allowed six hits, including homers by Frank Robinson and Willie Jones. The Cards scored three in the first, climaxed by Daryl Spencer's 12th home run, and then won it with two more in the third.

Rookie Ron Santo was 3-for-4 and drove in three runs for the Cubs, tagging relief pitcher Joey Jay for the clinching run with a solo homer, his second, in the seventh inning.

Man Killed By Mower

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A State Highway Department employe was killed Friday when he fell from a tractor into a mower it was pulling on West Central Street near Crissey Road. He was Arthur Karpinski, 37, of Toledo. The tractor struck a steel rail imbedded in the ground, throwing him into the mower.

Jim Piersall Hits 2 More In 6-4 Loss

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Piersall, the Cleveland Indians' controversial center fielder, now has hit home runs in three successive games, including two homers Friday night.

Despite Piersall's effort, the Red Sox took a 6-4 decision over the Indians. Vic Wertz, who went to Boston in the trade that brought Piersall to Cleveland in 1958, hit a three-run homer and drove in a fourth run with a single.

Ted Williams lined a homer down the right field line in the first inning — his 15th this year and 507th of his major league career.

The Indians now are 2½ games behind league-leading New York, and 2½ games behind Chicago's White Sox, who are just a few percentage points behind the Yankees.

Piersall drove in three runs with his four-baggers. In the second inning, with Vic Power on base by way of a walk, Jim drove a homer over the left field screen and raced around the bases at top speed. John Temple's double off the left centerfield fence scored Hank Foiles, who had walked, making the score 3-1.

Wertz put the Red Sox ahead with his homer off Cleveland starter Jim Grant in the third inning, scoring Willie Tasby and Williams ahead of him.

Tasby had singled and Williams walked. It was Wertz' 11th of the season.

Boston made it 5-3 in the fifth when Wertz hit a single off Dick Stigman, scoring Pete Runnels. Grant had been removed after issuing walks to Runnels and Williams.

Piersall, first man up in the sixth inning, hit his second home run over the left field wall—No. 13 for the season — and jogged around the bases, hat in hand, shouting to the Red Sox and the fans all the way.

Sox Club Yankees, Near Tie For Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, charging back from the grave, have streaked within three percentage points of the American League—leading New York Yankees — the club that left 'em for dead.

The Sox, tearing up their obituary that was typed by New York writers when the Yankees swept a four-game series at Chicago in mid-June, busted back for 18 hits and an 11-5 romp in the opener of a four-game set at Yankee Stadium Friday night.

It was the sixth straight success for the Sox, their longest string of the season, and 20th in their last 28 games.

The Yankees, now have lost 10 of their last 15.

Third-place Cleveland stayed 2½ games back, losing 6-4 at Boston as Vic Wertz drove in four runs with a homer and two singles. Baltimore's fourth-place Orioles, ending their home losing string at seven, trailed by three games after beating Detroit 2-1 with a pair of unearned runs. Kansas City netted six unearned runs in defeating Washington 9-4.

In the National League, Pittsburgh padded its lead to 2½ games over Milwaukee again, winning 4-1 at San Francisco after the Braves lost 8-7 to the last-place Chicago Cubs. Los Angeles regained third place by one percentage point over St. Louis, defeating Philadelphia 2-0 on Don Drysdale's four-hit, 14-strikeout pitching. The Cardinals won 8-3 at Cincinnati.

The White Sox, trailing by six games in fourth place on July 4, simply kept rolling on a tear in which they have knocked 70 hits in five games. They've scored 47 runs in that spree, getting five of them in the fourth inning Friday night to beat Bob Turley (6-2), who had won six straight.

Early Wynn, starting pitcher, singled in the first run of the frame, breaking a 2-all tie. Minnie Minoso, who batted in three runs, clinched in with a two - run double.

Bill Skowron, who hit in a double play with the bases loaded in the fifth inning against winning reliever Frank Baumann (7-4), drove in two of the Yank runs.

At Boston, Wertz walloped a three-run homer, his 11th, in the third inning for a 4-3 lead against loser Jim Grant (6-5), then singled home the winning run in the fifth. Ted Williams also homered for the Red Sox, his 15th and No. 507 of his career.

Singles by Walt Dropo and Brooks Robinson and errors by Frank Bolling and Chico Fernandez gave it to the Orioles and reliever Jack Fisher (6-8), who blanked the Tigers on six hits for seven frames.

The A's wrapped it up with four unearned runs in the sixth at Washington, thanks to an error by Jim Lemon, who hit his 24th home run for the Senators.

Records Begin To Tumble As Swimming Stars Duel

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

TOLDEO, Ohio (AP) — More records were certain to go tumbling today as the nation's top young stars swung into the second day of the AAU National Men's Swimming and Diving Championships.

There were three swimming events Friday and new records are up for acceptance in all of them. That acceptance is a mere formality.

Diving competition, always one of this country's strong points in the Olympic Games, was an overwhelming triumph for Mike Peppe's team from Ohio State.

But the big surprise came in the swimming events — the 100-meter freestyle, where Jeff Farrell hung up a new American record for recognition, the 400-meter individual medley in which Dennis Rounsavelle bettered the world mark, and the 1,500-meter freestyle, where George Breen lowered his Olympic record time.

Rounsavelle, a Southern California junior who will be 20 next month, splashed home in a blazing 5:04.5 in the 400-meter medley. That's more than four seconds under the world record set last year by Scotland's Ian Black.

Farrell, a two-time winner in the AAU meet last year, lowered the American standard with a 54.8 time in the 100-meter freestyle. Jon Henricks' 55.7 mark is the current accepted record.

Breen, 25, streaked home a winner in record time in the 1,500-meter freestyle. His 17:33.5 was 18.5 seconds under his own Olympic record set in 1956.

Sam Hall, who was graduated in June from Ohio State, scored 477.80 points in the three-meter diving. OSU teammate Don Harper, the defending champion, was second.

The first-day record breaking caused Dr. Harold Henning to say, "The swimming and diving team that the United States will send to Rome this summer will be much stronger than any of us expected."

Dr. Henning is chairman of the Men's AAU Swimming Committee.

East End Nine Wins, 1-0, On Clendenning's 1-Hitter

John Clendenning fired a one-hit shutout as East End defeated Patterson-Wetzel, 1-0, in a tight City League softball game Friday night.

Clendenning, who retired the last 14 batters in a row and faced only 24 in going the distance, fanned six. The triumph enabled East End to remain in first place by a half game over Midland.

Bob Hall was credited with the lone hit off Clendenning. Patterson-Wetzel failed to get a runner as far as second base.

Howard Wilson, who hurled for Patterson - Wetzel, was charged with the defeat, although giving up only two hits to Joe Anderson and Jim Potts.

East End scored its run on a walk, a sacrifice, a passed ball and attempted squeeze play in the last of the sixth. An error by Patterson-Wetzel's first sacker aided the runner in scoring for East End.

In another action, Midland clobbered AVP, 10-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Sam Ratkovich. Jack Bryan collected the only hit in the first inning. Bob Boston and Nick Vukovich had two hits each for the winners. Landfried was the losing pitcher.

Next week's schedule follows: Tuesday — Patterson-Wetzel vs. Midland at Patterson Field; Wednesday — East End at Midland and AVP vs. Studens Construction at Patterson Field; Thursday — East End vs. Studens and AVP vs. Patterson-Wetzel.

Wednesday's game between AVP and Studens will be a doubleheader, as a makeup game is also scheduled.

Jay Hebert Leads As Palmer Fades

By FRITZ HOWELL

AKRON, Ohio (AP) —Arnold Palmer is going to have to come from behind — as he did in the Masters and National Open, and didn't in the British Open — if he's going to win the 42nd PGA championship.

Proving that even the best can get the worst of it at times, the year's leading money winner ($66,000) from Ligonier, Pa., carved out a startling 74 in Friday's second round to surrender the lead his opening 67 had given him.

Out front as 95 survivors of the cutoff (at scores of 151) went into today's third round was Jay Hebert (he pronounces it ay-bear), from the bayous of Lafayette, La.

Jay, 37, whose younger brother Lionel won this fixture in 1957 when it was at man-to-man combat instead of medal play, had five birdies and two bogeys for the day's best round of 67 and a two-day total of 139, one under par.

Palmer's unexpected collapse on the front nine left him in a three-way tie at 141 with three-time Champion Sam Snead, who had a second-round 73, and Doug Sanders, Miami Beach, Fla., who had 70-71. Between them and the leader was Don January, the Dallas hotshot, who put together a pair of 70s.

Hebert fired his round early and let the others worry in the 90-degree temperature the rest of the day. Only Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., was able to chip par in the late going, over the windy, dried-out 7,165-yard Firestone Country Club course, and his 69 put him in a three-way deadlock at 142 with Ken Venturi, Palo Alto Calif., and John O'Donnell, Baltimore.

Although only six sub par scores have been fired in two rounds by 185 of the country's finest, the first two days were a picnic for the pros.

The awesome challenge of this mighty remade course is no myth. Ben Hogan, who just seven years ago won the U. S. and British opens and the Masters in a single year, hasn't scored a birdie in 36 holes of trying here.

"I can't remember when that happened to me before. I don't believe it ever did," Hogan said.

Nonpareil Sets Meeting

Officers and trustees of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club will meet Tuesday night at 8 in the YMCA, Ralph Musuraca, president, announced today.

Walker Fans 11 For Win; Blythe Stars At Plate

East Liverpool's American League All-Stars easily hurdled their first test in the District Little League tournament Friday night at Myler Park by walloping Scio, 6-1.

Len Walker pitched the local club to victory, striking out 11, walking only one and scattering three infield hits in going the distance.

The young hurler allowed Scio its only run in the sixth inning on an error, an infield hit and a wild pitch. John Conner scored Scio's only run. He was the same player who scored last year to deny Jim Hissom a shutout when he nipped Scio, 2-1.

Lead-off batter Buck Blythe wielded a potent bat for the city All-Stars. The left fielder had a perfect night at the plate with two doubles and a single, driving in three runs. His double in the second drove home Mike Silliman and Dave Gamble and gave Walker breathing room on the mound.

After scoring two runs in the second, the East Liverpool stars really went to work in the fifth and pushed across four runs.

Mc Farlane opened the inning by drawing a walk and scored when Blythe slugged his second double. On the unsuccessful attempt to cut down McFarlane at the plate, Blythe advanced to third. Frank Tice, who ran for Blythe, scored on an infield out. Walker reached first on an error and scored on Mike McVay's line drive double to deep center field. Larry Radcliffe followed with a base hit to right to drive in McVay.

The local squad pounded seven hits off Scio's Ron Cadle, who was relieved by Statler.

Tom Cloran's victorious American Leaguers will travel to Massillon Monday to battle the Massillon National League All-Stars. The East Liverpool National Leaguers, coached by Bill Wolfe, will host Canton Timken Monday at Myler Park. Both games will get under way at 6.

Canton Timken whipped the Massillon Americans on Friday, 13-12. The Massillon Nationals survived by defeating the Stark Central club, 3-1.

Sox Club Yankees, Near Tie For Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, charging back from the grave, have streaked within three percentage points of the American League—leading New York Yankees — the club that left 'em for dead.

The Sox, tearing up their obituary that was typed by New York writers when the Yankees swept a four-game series at Chicago in mid-June, busted back for 18 hits and an 11-5 romp in the opener of a four-game set at Yankee Stadium Friday night.

It was the sixth straight success for the Sox, their longest string of the season, and 20th in their last 28 games.

The Yankees, now have lost 10 of their last 15.

Third-place Cleveland stayed 2½ games back, losing 6-4 at Boston as Vic Wertz drove in four runs with a homer and two singles. Baltimore's fourth-place Orioles, ending their home losing string at seven, trailed by three games after beating Detroit 2-1 with a pair of unearned runs. Kansas City netted six unearned runs in defeating Washington 9-4.

In the National League, Pittsburgh padded its lead to 2½ games over Milwaukee again, winning 4-1 at San Francisco after the Braves lost 8-7 to the last-place Chicago Cubs. Los Angeles regained third place by one percentage point over St. Louis, defeating Philadelphia 2-0 on Don Drysdale's four-hit, 14-strikeout pitching. The Cardinals won 8-3 at Cincinnati.

The White Sox, trailing by six games in fourth place on July 4, simply kept rolling on a tear in which they have knocked 70 hits in five games. They've scored 47 runs in that spree, getting five of them in the fourth inning Friday night to beat Bob Turley (6-2), who had won six straight.

Early Wynn, starting pitcher, singled in the first run of the frame, breaking a 2-all tie. Minnie Minoso, who batted in three runs, clinched in with a two - run double.

Bill Skowron, who hit in a double play with the bases loaded in the fifth inning against winning reliever Frank Baumann (7-4), drove in two of the Yank runs.

At Boston, Wertz walloped a three-run homer, his 11th, in the third inning for a 4-3 lead against loser Jim Grant (6-5), then singled home the winning run in the fifth. Ted Williams also homered for the Red Sox, his 15th and No. 507 of his career.

Singles by Walt Dropo and Brooks Robinson and errors by Frank Bolling and Chico Fernandez gave it to the Orioles and reliever Jack Fisher (6-8), who blanked the Tigers on six hits for seven frames.

The A's wrapped it up with four unearned runs in the sixth at Washington, thanks to an error by Jim Lemon, who hit his 24th home run for the Senators.

Records Begin To Tumble As Swimming Stars Duel

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

TOLDEO, Ohio (AP) — More records were certain to go tumbling today as the nation's top young stars swung into the second day of the AAU National Men's Swimming and Diving Championships.

There were three swimming events Friday and new records are up for acceptance in all of them. That acceptance is a mere formality.

Diving competition, always one of this country's strong points in the Olympic Games, was an overwhelming triumph for Mike Peppe's team from Ohio State.

But the big surprise came in the swimming events — the 100-meter freestyle, where Jeff Farrell hung up a new American record for recognition, the 400-meter individual medley in which Dennis Rounsavelle bettered the world mark, and the 1,500-meter freestyle, where George Breen lowered his Olympic record time.

Rounsavelle, a Southern California junior who will be 20 next month, splashed home in a blazing 5:04.5 in the 400-meter medley. That's more than four seconds under the world record set last year by Scotland's Ian Black.

Farrell, a two-time winner in the AAU meet last year, lowered the American standard with a 54.8 time in the 100-meter freestyle. Jon Henricks' 55.7 mark is the current accepted record.

Breen, 25, streaked home a winner in record time in the 1,500-meter freestyle. His 17:33.5 was 18.5 seconds under his own Olympic record set in 1956.

Sam Hall, who was graduated in June from Ohio State, scored 477.80 points in the three-meter diving. OSU teammate Don Harper, the defending champion, was second.

The first-day record breaking caused Dr. Harold Henning to say, "The swimming and diving team that the United States will send to Rome this summer will be much stronger than any of us expected."

Dr. Henning is chairman of the Men's AAU Swimming Committee.

East End Nine Wins, 1-0, On Clendenning's 1-Hitter

John Clendenning fired a one-hit shutout as East End defeated Patterson-Wetzel, 1-0, in a tight City League softball game Friday night.

Clendenning, who retired the last 14 batters in a row and faced only 24 in going the distance, fanned six. The triumph enabled East End to remain in first place by a half game over Midland.

Bob Hall was credited with the lone hit off Clendenning. Patterson-Wetzel failed to get a runner as far as second base.

Howard Wilson, who hurled for Patterson - Wetzel, was charged with the defeat, although giving up only two hits to Joe Anderson and Jim Potts.

East End scored its run on a walk, a sacrifice, a passed ball and attempted squeeze play in the last of the sixth. An error by Patterson-Wetzel's first sacker aided the runner in scoring for East End.

In another action, Midland clobbered AVP, 10-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Sam Ratkovich. Jack Bryan collected the only hit in the first inning. Bob Boston and Nick Vukovich had two hits each for the winners. Landfried was the losing pitcher.

Next week's schedule follows: Tuesday — Patterson-Wetzel vs. Midland at Patterson Field; Wednesday — East End at Midland and AVP vs. Studens Construction at Patterson Field; Thursday — East End vs. Studens and AVP vs. Patterson-Wetzel.

Wednesday's game between AVP and Studens will be a doubleheader, as a makeup game is also scheduled.

Jay Hebert Leads As Palmer Fades

By FRITZ HOWELL

AKRON, Ohio (AP) —Arnold Palmer is going to have to come from behind — as he did in the Masters and National Open, and didn't in the British Open — if he's going to win the 42nd PGA championship.

Proving that even the best can get the worst of it at times, the year's leading money winner ($66,000) from Ligonier, Pa., carved out a startling 74 in Friday's second round to surrender the lead his opening 67 had given him.

Out front as 95 survivors of the cutoff (at scores of 151) went into today's third round was Jay Hebert (he pronounces it ay-bear), from the bayous of Lafayette, La.

Jay, 37, whose younger brother Lionel won this fixture in 1957 when it was at man-to-man combat instead of medal play, had five birdies and two bogeys for the day's best round of 67 and a two-day total of 139, one under par.

Palmer's unexpected collapse on the front nine left him in a three-way tie at 141 with three-time Champion Sam Snead, who had a second-round 73, and Doug Sanders, Miami Beach, Fla., who had 70-71. Between them and the leader was Don January, the Dallas hotshot, who put together a pair of 70s.

Hebert fired his round early and let the others worry in the 90-degree temperature the rest of the day. Only Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., was able to chip par in the late going, over the windy, dried-out 7,165-yard Firestone Country Club course, and his 69 put him in a three-way deadlock at 142 with Ken Venturi, Palo Alto Calif., and John O'Donnell, Baltimore.

Although only six sub par scores have been fired in two rounds by 185 of the country's finest, the first two days were a picnic for the pros.

The awesome challenge of this mighty remade course is no myth. Ben Hogan, who just seven years ago won the U. S. and British opens and the Masters in a single year, hasn't scored a birdie in 36 holes of trying here.

"I can't remember when that happened to me before. I don't believe it ever did," Hogan said.

Officers and trustees of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club will meet Tuesday night at 8 in the YMCA, Ralph Musuraca, president, announced today.

Walker Fans 11 For Win; Blythe Stars At Plate

East Liverpool's American League All-Stars easily hurdled their first test in the District Little League tournament Friday night at Myler Park by walloping Scio, 6-1.

Len Walker pitched the local club to victory, striking out 11, walking only one and scattering three infield hits in going the distance.

The young hurler allowed Scio its only run in the sixth inning on an error, an infield hit and a wild pitch. John Conner scored Scio's only run. He was the same player who scored last year to deny Jim Hissom a shutout when he nipped Scio, 2-1.

Lead-off batter Buck Blythe wielded a potent bat for the city All-Stars. The left fielder had a perfect night at the plate with two doubles and a single, driving in three runs. His double in the second drove home Mike Silliman and Dave Gamble and gave Walker breathing room on the mound.

After scoring two runs in the second, the East Liverpool stars really went to work in the fifth and pushed across four runs.

Mc Farlane opened the inning by drawing a walk and scored when Blythe slugged his second double. On the unsuccessful attempt to cut down McFarlane at the plate, Blythe advanced to third. Frank Tice, who ran for Blythe, scored on an infield out. Walker reached first on an error and scored on Mike McVay's line drive double to deep center field. Larry Radcliffe followed with a base hit to right to drive in McVay.

The local squad pounded seven hits off Scio's Ron Cadle, who was relieved by Statler.

Tom Cloran's victorious American Leaguers will travel to Massillon Monday to battle the Massillon National League All-Stars. The East Liverpool National Leaguers, coached by Bill Wolfe, will host Canton Timken Monday at Myler Park. Both games will get under way at 6.

Canton Timken whipped the Massillon Americans on Friday, 13-12. The Massillon Nationals survived by defeating the Stark Central club, 3-1.

Crucible's Steel Used For Repair Of Capitol Dome

Repair of the historic cast iron dome of the Capitol Building at Washington is nearing completion rapidly and a large part of the 10 tons of stainless steel used was supplied by the Boston branch warehouse of the Crucible Steel Co.

A Crucible spokesman at Pittsburgh said that the stainless steel will give the structure permanence and stability. The metal fabrication began in 1959.

The work is being done by Babcock & Davis Associates of Boston, Mass. The job of staging was done by the Universal Scaffolding Co. of Zelienople.

During the 100-year history of the dome, cracking of the cast iron occured mainly as a result of expansion and contraction during weather changes.

Broken or cracked sections have been replaced with stainless fabricating plate sections which have been electrically welded into place.

Abraham Lincoln, derided for building the dome during the Civil War, said its construction was "a sign that the union will go on."

Gas Company Walkout Goes Into 84th Day

The strike of maintenance workers against the Ohio Valley Gas Co. continued uninterrupted into its 84th day today.

There has been no word from a federal mediator on a possible date to resume contract talks since negotiations ended June 17. Maintenance workers struck Ohio Valley May 1 in East Liverpool, Steubenville and Bellaire after the old contract expired.

The city workers are members of Local Union 13656, District 50, United Mine Workers of America. William Bleigh is president. Bleigh and Harold Sneddon, division manager of Ohio Valley, reported nothing new in the way of resumption of negotiations that is to be arranged by the federal conciliator.

Meanwhile, Local 13656 issued a statement today in which it declared customers' meters have not been read since April 28, so any recent bills issued by the company have been based on estimates.

It added: "The company imports outside contractors to perform large amounts of construction work. The union is asking that local people be employed and contractors not be allowed to take work which can be done locally."

The union also said that any settlement of the disagreement will have to be made by the officials of the Columbia Gas System because both Ohio Valley and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., of which it is a subsidiary, are units of the Columbia system.

3 Bearded Escapees Picked Up In Tavern

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Three bearded escapees from Geauga County Jail surrendered meekly when authorities caught up with them early today, less than 10 hours after they fled the 100-year-old jail.

Plain-clothes policemen walked into a tavern in Richmond Heights and captured the two as they sat at a table sipping soft drinks.

The fugitives were Kenneth Hawkins, 21, of Tampa, Fla., held on charges of car theft and larceny; Lawrence D. Cullum, 23, of Chardon, serving a one-year sentence for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and Allen Van Orman, 22, of Middlefield, held on a breaking and entering charge.

Authorities declined to say who tipped them off that the fugitives were in the tavern, operated by John Killar, 40, of Euclid.

Killed In 2-Car Crash

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Harriet Ashley, 85, a resident of the Methodist Home in Elyria, was killed Friday in a two-car collision in a Cleveland Transit System parking lot. She was riding with her daughter, Mrs. Louise Smith, 53, of Cleveland Heights, who suffered a fractured right arm and internal injuries.

Right House Number, But The Wrong Street

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — A local television shop has a red face and Jewel Thorpe has a new antenna.

Thorpe reported last week someone removed his rooftop antenna while he was out.

Now the TV shop says it solved the case. It sent its men on an order to move an antenna. They got the right house number — on the wrong street.

Gas Company Walkout Goes Into 84th Day

The strike of maintenance workers against the Ohio Valley Gas Co. continued uninterrupted into its 84th day today.

There has been no word from a federal mediator on a possible date to resume contract talks since negotiations ended June 17. Maintenance workers struck Ohio Valley May 1 in East Liverpool, Steubenville and Bellaire after the old contract expired.

The city workers are members of Local Union 13656, District 50, United Mine Workers of America. William Bleigh is president. Bleigh and Harold Sneddon, division manager of Ohio Valley, reported nothing new in the way of resumption of negotiations that is to be arranged by the federal conciliator.

Meanwhile, Local 13656 issued a statement today in which it declared customers' meters have not been read since April 28, so any recent bills issued by the company have been based on estimates.

It added: "The company imports outside contractors to perform large amounts of construction work. The union is asking that local people be employed and contractors not be allowed to take work which can be done locally."

The union also said that any settlement of the disagreement will have to be made by the officials of the Columbia Gas System because both Ohio Valley and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., of which it is a subsidiary, are units of the Columbia system.

3 Bearded Escapees Picked Up In Tavern

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Three bearded escapees from Geauga County Jail surrendered meekly when authorities caught up with them early today, less than 10 hours after they fled the 100-year-old jail.

Plain-clothes policemen walked into a tavern in Richmond Heights and captured the two as they sat at a table sipping soft drinks.

The fugitives were Kenneth Hawkins, 21, of Tampa, Fla., held on charges of car theft and larceny; Lawrence D. Cullum, 23, of Chardon, serving a one-year sentence for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and Allen Van Orman, 22, of Middlefield, held on a breaking and entering charge.

Authorities declined to say who tipped them off that the fugitives were in the tavern, operated by John Killar, 40, of Euclid.

Killed In 2-Car Crash

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Harriet Ashley, 85, a resident of the Methodist Home in Elyria, was killed Friday in a two-car collision in a Cleveland Transit System parking lot. She was riding with her daughter, Mrs. Louise Smith, 53, of Cleveland Heights, who suffered a fractured right arm and internal injuries.

Right House Number, But The Wrong Street

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — A local television shop has a red face and Jewel Thorpe has a new antenna.

Thorpe reported last week someone removed his rooftop antenna while he was out.

Now the TV shop says it solved the case. It sent its men on an order to move an antenna. They got the right house number — on the wrong street.

A report on Camp Carcia held recently at Tomlinson Run was given by Miss Gregory, while Miss Mack reported on the current day camp at Dixonville.

The next meeting will be Aug. 4 at the Seeley home, when plans will be made for a tent camp.

Traffic Death Cause Traced In Club's Film

A vivid color film showing traffic crashes and victims being removed from wrecks was screened by the State Highway Patrol at a meeting of the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Entitled "Signal 30," the patrol's code name for a traffic fatality, the film showed how violation of simple traffic laws resulted in tragedy.

In introducing the film, Patrolman James Wattleworth of the Lisbon barracks commented: "It's not a pretty picture. Frankly, we hope it makes you sick so you, as individuals and a club, will take some action to stop this terrible toll. "We can handle the enforcement but we want you to handle the education."

Fred Yonz was program chairman. Howard E. Tice, president, presided.

James Johnston, chairman of the "Dollars for Debbie" drive sponsored by the club, read a letter from East Liverpool Junior Chamber of Commerce offering its support.

Employes of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. have contributed 100 per cent to the drive, Johnston said. The fund now has approximately $400 to aid with the expenses for 9-year-old Deborah McElroy, 424 College St., who is stricken with a disease of the central nervous system.

John Rippeth announced the Elks tentatively has scheduled a dance for members and guests Friday night from 9 to midnight at the lodge home. Dick Maylone's orchestra will play. All proceeds will be turned over to the "Debbie" fund, he said.

Barnhart, 17, of Park Way Ext., East Liverpool, crossing a yellow line, and Robert Stokes, 17, of Leetonia, stop sign violation.

Robert J. Brown, 17, of Enon Valley received a 15 - day suspension for failure to signal.

2 Huge Boulders Crash Into Homes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two huge boulders rolled down a hillside Friday in nearby Sharpsburg, one winding up in the bathroom of a house and the other in the second-floor bedroom of another house. No one was injured.

Mrs. Anna Murphy and her 18-month-old grandson, Robert McQuade, were alone at her home when the boulder ripped into the rear of the frame structure and halted in the bedroom.

"I had just put him (Robert) in the backyard and had gone into the house for a cup of coffee when I heard this noise," Mrs. Murphy said. "I ran out to look for him and saw these stones coming down the hill. He was on the porch and I grabbed him and ran across the street."

Mrs. William Woodward said she and her two sons, Timmy, 9, and Danny, 4, left their home to go to the store minutes before the boulder smashed through the roof and into the bathroom.

Miss Pinney is the second member to receive the honor. Miss Doris Bourne was given similar recognition two years ago. She also will enter her second year this fall at West Liberty College.

New members invested were Geraldine Bednarczyk, Mary Jo Biela, Donna Kay Wilson and Katie Bailey. Ranger Aide Bars were awarded Anne Gregory, Gretchen Allison and Miss Bednarczyk.

Patty Mack, Miss Allison, Suzanne Ankrom, Miss Gregory, Miss Bednarczyk, Miss Biela, Ruth Edwards and Marcella Lyons received child care bars. Pins for completing the 5-point program were given to Misses Mack and Lyons.

A report on Camp Carcia held recently at Tomlinson Run was given by Miss Gregory, while Miss Mack reported on the current day camp at Dixonville.

The troop chose the Mountaineer patch to wear on its uniforms. The group of 18 scouts remained all night for a sleep-out. Mrs. Seeley was assisted by Mrs. Wesley Hobbs and Mrs. Frank Reed, co-leaders.

The next meeting will be Aug. 4 at the Seeley home, when plans will be made for a tent camp.

Traffic Death Cause Traced In Club's Film

A vivid color film showing traffic crashes and victims being removed from wrecks was screened by the State Highway Patrol at a meeting of the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Entitled "Signal 30," the patrol's code name for a traffic fatality, the film showed how violation of simple traffic laws resulted in tragedy.

In introducing the film, Patrolman James Wattleworth of the Lisbon barracks commented: "It's not a pretty picture. Frankly, we hope it makes you sick so you, as individuals and a club, will take some action to stop this terrible toll. "We can handle the enforcement but we want you to handle the education."

Fred Yonz was program chairman. Howard E. Tice, president, presided.

James Johnston, chairman of the "Dollars for Debbie" drive sponsored by the club, read a letter from East Liverpool Junior Chamber of Commerce offering its support.

Employes of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. have contributed 100 per cent to the drive, Johnston said. The fund now has approximately $400 to aid with the expenses for 9-year-old Deborah McElroy, 424 College St., who is stricken with a disease of the central nervous system.

John Rippeth announced the Elks tentatively has scheduled a dance for members and guests Friday night from 9 to midnight at the lodge home. Dick Maylone's orchestra will play. All proceeds will be turned over to the "Debbie" fund, he said.

2 Huge Boulders Crash Into Homes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two huge boulders rolled down a hillside Friday in nearby Sharpsburg, one winding up in the bathroom of a house and the other in the second-floor bedroom of another house. No one was injured.

Mrs. Anna Murphy and her 18-month-old grandson, Robert McQuade, were alone at her home when the boulder ripped into the rear of the frame structure and halted in the bedroom.

"I had just put him (Robert) in the backyard and had gone into the house for a cup of coffee when I heard this noise," Mrs. Murphy said. "I ran out to look for him and saw these stones coming down the hill. He was on the porch and I grabbed him and ran across the street."

Mrs. William Woodward said she and her two sons, Timmy, 9, and Danny, 4, left their home to go to the store minutes before the boulder smashed through the roof and into the bathroom.

Rules On Land Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy has ruled that county auditors lack authority to delay transfer of land on a tax list until a county health commissioner certifies that the land meets county health regulations. The ruling went to Fulton County Prosecutor John H. Barber.

An Open Letter to My "Second-Generation" Children

By BING CROSBY

Charles A. Halleck is usually found in the middle of GOP huddles—this time it's (l. to r.) Joe Martin, Halleck, Richard Nixon, Fred Seaton, and William Knowland.

The Man to Watch at the Republican Convention

He's Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who will preside as permanent chairman over a convention that may be cut-and-dried—or may explode before him

By CURTIS MITCHELL

THE BIG EYE of television will focus this week on a stubby, leathery Republican named Charles A. Halleck, member of the U. S. House of Representatives from Indiana.

As permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention, he is the big boss.

His nod will make careers, and his raised eyebrow will quash dreams. Yet just eight short years ago, his personal political star burned so dimly that his own Indiana state party refused to seat him as a delegate at the 1952 convention. Today his unique qualifications are attested to by such diverse evidence as his position as leader of the House Republicans, and a note in Dwight D. Eisenhower's handwriting which says: "You are a political genius."

But what kind of a chairman will he be?

On his record, he will be rough, tough, and then abruptly considerate. Congressional opponents have called him a "gut fighter," an epithet not meant to be complimentary. As party leader, he is a team man who expects other Republicans to be the same.

Under his gavel, this week's gathering of 1,331 delegates will almost certainly purr along like the well-oiled machine it is. Its avowed purpose seems to be to nominate Richard Nixon as the Republican standard-bearer. With over 800 votes pledged, say pollsters, he should win on the first ballot.

But will he? Insiders say that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York has one more bombshell in his arsenal. Key men from his 60-man task force of writers and political experts have been traveling around the country and are now gathering in Chicago. Delegates with long memories may recall another candidate who went to a Republican convention "without a chance" and walked away with the nomination. His name: Wendell Willkie.

Will "Rocky" pull a Willkie blitz?

If he tries, Chairman Halleck will know what to do. Back in 1940, it was he who helped engineer the Willkie rebellion. It was he who made a key address that set the galleries ablaze and started one of the wildest demonstrations in convention history.

NOW THE SITUATION is different. He is a senior statesman, secure in his leadership. Now he holds the gavel for his friend Richard Nixon, who expects to be nominated. A photo on the front wall of his Capitol office dramatizes the change. It shows three smiling men erect behind a banquet table. One is Halleck of Indiana, another is Richard Nixon, the third is the President of the United States.

So much high-level companionship has caused Indiana friends to hope that their boy might be nominated for the vice-presidency. The possibility excites everybody but Halleck. He remembers the year he led the Indiana delegation out of the late Sen. Robert Taft's camp to cast their votes for Thomas Dewey of New York. He thought he had been promised the vice-presidential spot on the Dewey ticket. But something went wrong. The nomination went to former Gov. Earl Warren of California. Halleck has never forgotten.

"I've learned the hard way that you don't 'run' for the vice-presidency," he says. "If whoever is nominated should say to me he wanted me to run, I'm not going to be coy. I would answer, 'Yes.'"

Last year, Halleck became House leader, replacing aging Joe Martin. This year, his face will be seen on 40 million TV screens. Preparing for his week of ordeal, he is aware that critics have complained of past conventions with the fancy hats, noisemakers, and "spontaneous" demonstrations.

"When those cameras go on, we're all in a goldfish bowl," he says. "We may look silly on the screen sometimes, but things are going according to the will of the majority. I think it's better to have freedom and a few high jinks than to be a rubber-stamp convention that merely approves what some big shot already has decided."

TV viewers will also see a gentleman from Indiana, of whom the Warsaw (Ind.) "Times Union" recently wrote: "President Eisenhower is indebted to Charlie Halleck more than any other person on Capitol Hill. Because of him, he is the strongest lame-duck president ever to sit in the White House."

An Open Letter to My "Second-Generation" Children

By BING CROSBY

DEAR HARRY LILLIS AND MARY FRANCES:

You are barely two, Harry Lillis, and you, Mary Frances, are not yet even one, so it will be some time before you can read this letter, and still more time will go by till you will understand what I hope to convey to you.

I am 55 now, and while I'm in good health and looking forward to many more productive years, I feel that I should write down my hopes and plans for you and maybe a few suggestions based on my own experience as a son, as a husband, and as a father to another generation of Crosbys.

I know I've made mistakes in raising my four oldest boys. Certainly they were not intentional, and none of them was severe enough to harm their futures. It is quite likely that I will make mistakes with you, so I want you to know what I'm doing, and why I'm doing it.

Most of all, I want you two to achieve happy, fulfilled lives. Though the road to such achievement is a highly personal one, I think you will find, as I have, that the broader your range of interests outside of your profession, the greater your chances of finding happiness.

When I was a boy about 11, my father would take me fishing at Hangman's Creek, outside Spokane. This not only taught me to love the outdoors but created a feeling of closeness between the two of us. He taught me to enjoy other sports and music.

Many nights he would play the guitar for me and my brothers, and he was always bringing home new records. I will try to help you widen your horizons and participate in your leisure-time activities, just as my father did with me. I believe strongly in the closeness of a family relationship; it gives you a feeling of security and belonging.

I think firm religious beliefs are terribly important for your future, too. Religion has always helped me, especially in times of crisis. I loved to sing in the church choir as a youngster. And my first communion in the Catholic church when I was six, and my confirmation when I was ten, are treasured memories.

Getting an education is of tremendous value, and I will do all in my power to talk you into finishing college. The importance of acquiring a complete education cannot be underestimated. But equally important is the fact that school, especially college, teaches you how to get along with people. You will learn to respect the other fellow's rights, privileges, and feelings. You will also make invaluable social contacts and lasting friendships. My closest friends are people I met in school.

While I will try to convince you to get a college degree, I realize there's no use insisting on it. Perhaps if I had been a little easier on Gary, Philip, Dennis, and Lindsay, at least one of them would have earned his degree.

I Will Guide You

I learned the hard way that you can't make inflexible rules about the professions you want your children to have. I will try to help you discover what you're best suited for—and then encourage you to the best of my ability. But I will not try to persuade you to go into something against your will, as I did with the boys. One thing I am sure of, though, it's terribly important to have a goal in life, whatever that goal may be.

I tried to get the boys interested in businesses other than show business. The twins, Philip and Dennis, seemed to like ranching, and so I prepared them for that field. I even sent them to an agricultural college and talked them into working on a ranch three or four months a year.

Now that I look back, I think the experience was too rigorous. I had them work as laborers so that when they'd run a ranch of their own they would know how to supervise their hired hands properly. But now I'm convinced I worked them too hard—so hard that they veered away from my objective and, as you know, they all wound up in show business anyway.

I'm not sorry about it, as they seem to be doing well and are happy in their field. But I still wonder sometimes if at least the twins might not have been happier running a ranch.

One thing I do want you to learn is to stand up for your rights. I want you to fight for what you want no matter how big or how little it is—just as long as you don't hurt anybody else in the process. I want you to learn to be self-reliant.

When I was in college, I used to play the drums with the school band. One summer vacation, the group was hired to play at a nearby lake resort, but I had to buy drums in order to go along. The ones I used at school couldn't be borrowed.

The price of the drums was $220, in my time a small fortune. I worked at a variety of odd jobs to earn the money—as a janitor in a downtown store, selling newspapers, cutting lawns, doing all sorts of things. But I got the drums and the job with the band that summer, and a sense of independence I'll never forget.

I hope neither one of you will go steady at an early age. And any time before you finish college is too early in my book! I never had a steady girl until I was out of college. Nowadays, kids go steady as young as 12. That invariably leads somewhere—somewhere unhealthy. Sometimes young people get married before they are equipped for the responsibility, and ruin their lives.

That's one thing I want to stress to you, Mary Frances: I would like you to wait, even after you are out of college, before you get married. I have seen too many girls get married at 17 or 18. By the time they are 21, they have children, are frustrated and depressed, and look 35. Of course, it's tough if you fall in love. Yet I firmly believe that you ought to see the world, meet all kinds of people, and learn how others live before you settle down.

I'm not worried if you, Harry Lillis, want to get married a little earlier—just as long as you wait till you've finished your education and done your stint in the Army. By then, I'm sure, you'll have managed to do some traveling and will have met enough girls to know what you're looking for.

With the exception of Gary, who is still a bachelor as of this day—and sometimes I wish he wasn't—my other boys married young. But not until they were sure they knew what they wanted and were financially independent. I like the girls they married, and I think the boys are happy.

Seek the Right Girl

I wish I could advise you on what to look for in a husband and wife, when the time is right. As far as you're concerned, Mary Frances, I will let your mother Kathryn do the talking. As for you, Harry Lillis, I honestly don't know what to say—except that I hope you can find in a woman many of the qualities your mother has. If you ever find yourself in trouble, any kind of trouble, I hope and pray that you will come to your mother and me with it.

When I was growing up, I didn't have the problems today's youngsters have, because times have changed so much. My youth was much less complicated. I was terribly busy with school, sports, my band work, and choir singing. When I had problems, I always talked them over with my dad.

My four older sons did come to me with some of their problems, but not as much as I would have liked them to. And just as I didn't know, when they were young, how to encourage them to come to me more often, I'm not sure that I will know the right way to influence you. I always tried to make the older boys feel that I was available to listen to whatever was bothering them. For a while, I tried to keep them under close surveillance, but that only made them uncomfortable by giving them a feeling that they were being spied on.

I promise I will never do that to you.

Often when I gave them advice they would ignore it. I never knew who their companions were, or what they were like, and my suggestions were readily forgotten under the influence of others—till something disappointing happened that made the boys come back to me. They had to learn from firsthand experience that what I'd told them was the truth, and that many of my suggestions were well meant.

I felt and still feel helpless in this respect. And though I realize the two of you may have to go through the same process, there's nothing I feel I can do differently.

I have been asked a number of times if, in raising my four oldest sons, I have learned anything I would do differently.

I don't think so. If I was not always successful with the oldest boys, it was only because no father ever had all the answers. I have always tried, to the best of my ability, to be a good father. And if, by this, I will have earned your love and respect, I will be amply rewarded.

I promise I will never do that to you.

Often when I gave them advice they would ignore it. I never knew who their companions were, or what they were like, and my suggestions were readily forgotten under the influence of others—till something disappointing happened that made the boys come back to me. They had to learn from firsthand experience that what I'd told them was the truth, and that many of my suggestions were well meant.

I felt and still feel helpless in this respect. And though I realize the two of you may have to go through the same process, there's nothing I feel I can do differently.

I have been asked a number of times if, in raising my four oldest sons, I have learned anything I would do differently.

I don't think so. If I was not always successful with the oldest boys, it was only because no father ever had all the answers. I have always tried, to the best of my ability, to be a good father. And if, by this, I will have earned your love and respect, I will be amply rewarded.

Walk the Cracker Line

By John O. Cole

Divide the players into two groups. Let one team watch while the other tries its skill. Line up each team, one player behind the other. On the floor or sidewalk in front of the first player, place six soda crackers. Space them a foot apart in a wavy line ahead of him. The first player is blindfolded and told to walk up the line and back without stepping on a cracker. If he steps on a cracker, it is replaced, and he must try again. When he succeeds, the second person is blindfolded and tries his luck. The team that finishes fastest wins.

For added fun, the team watching can call out instructions to the person walking the line. These instructions do not have to be correct, and the poor player will be more confused than ever about where to step!

The registrar of a business school was outlining its advantages to a young girl. "In our classes in shorthand and typing," he said, "we stress accuracy. Our records show less than 1 percent in errors."

"What about speed?" the prospective student asked.

"We have an excellent record there, too," said the registrar. "From last year's class, 14 girls married their employers in the first six months!" —Ben Cassell

"But, your honor," the husband protested, "I never said she was as big as a truck—I simply mentioned that people were afraid to pass her except on the left."

The Love in MY EYES

He lost his sight in an accident, then regained it in a way that reaffirmed for him the selflessness of friends—and of strangers

By PHILLIP PRON as told to John M. Ross

IN THIS DAY of cold wars and threats of complete destruction of man, it's difficult for some to believe that brotherly love still exists. But I get a dramatic reminder of man's goodness every morning when I open my eyes.

Few men have been lucky enough to experience this lesson. Mine began on May 11, 1950, when I was a seaman on the S.S. Robin Trent, a merchant ship. The Mediterranean was rough, and as I walked through the galley a wave caught the ship and rolled it sharply. A heavy refrigerator door swung open, striking my forehead with great force and knocking me unconscious.

When I finally came to, I found a lump on my forehead. There was a throbbing behind my ear, too. It could have been worse, I decided.

The next morning I failed to wake on schedule. A shipmate tugged at my shoulder, and finally I stirred. But now there was something wrong—terribly wrong. I opened my eyes, but there was only darkness.

"Oh, my God," I groaned, "I'm blind!"

I was returned to the United States for tests. The days became weeks, and my initial anxiety gave way to bitterness. I felt I had a right to be mad at the world. I was only 24. I had only begun to live. It wasn't fair.

I struggled to control my emotions by attending daily Mass at the hospital chapel. Often, Father McGovern, the chaplain, would give me a special pep talk.

"There's always a chance, Phillip," he'd tell me. "Don't ever give up hope."

The doctors' diagnosis was not as optimistic. The corneas of both eyes had been severely damaged, they reported. Even the fact that I could occasionally distinguish shadows with one eye could not be regarded as encouraging. I was probably doomed to total blindness, they told me.

The cornea is the transparent shield at the front of the eye—something like the crystal of a watch. If it is damaged or blurred, the rest of the eye mechanism in back of it, though in perfect condition, is useless.

Toward the end of my first year in the hospital, I began to adjust to my fate, and the Association for the Blind made plans to start my instruction in Braille and handicraft. The blind can't live on sympathy; they must earn their own way, too.

Then, one morning, waking early, I realized a new patient was in the bed next to mine. His name was Eric Joseph, and with a slight cockney accent he told me he hailed from Calcutta, India. He was a promising boxer who'd lost sight in his right eye from a blow.

Still hoping to fight again, Eric had submitted to six operations. All failed. Now he was back for one last try, and the doctors admitted the odds were stacked against him.

Eric and I became good friends. He came to know my family, which frequently came over from Jersey City, N. J., to visit. He even discussed my case with my doctor. But none of this prepared me for that March day in 1951.

The doctors had told me several times that I had a chance of regaining sight in one eye, if and when they were able to perform a cornea transplant. It was too complicated for me to understand at first, but now they spelled it out in simple detail. It was possible, they said, to remove a damaged cornea and replace it with a sound cornea from another eye. The Eye Bank supplied the new cornea which was willed to it, usually, by thoughtful people prior to their death. But, the doctors pointed out, the Eye Bank was not able to fill all requests promptly. Usually it took years before one's name moved to the top of the long waiting list.

BUT ONE DOCTOR'S next words suddenly gave new hope. "We've found a good, healthy cornea for you," he said, almost joyfully, "and it's available immediately."

"From the bank? You mean I don't have to wait at all?" I exclaimed.

"No, this one isn't from the Eye Bank," the doctor replied. "In fact its donor is right here—your buddy in the next bed."

"Eric? You mean Eric here?" I groped, bewildered by the magnitude of the offer. I eased myself out of bed, took a few steps, and reached for Eric's hand.

"The doctors tell me it's a big gamble," Eric explained. "But they say the cornea is perfect—it could help you see again. It's not doing me any good, so I want you to have it."

I guess there are words for such a moment, but I didn't know them. Here was a man I had known for little more than a week doing this for me! Giving up his dream of a great boxing career!

Two days later, Eric and I were side by side in the operating room. Four doctors, led by Dr. Rudolf Aebli, a New York eye surgeon, performed the operation. There was no guarantee of success, of course. The cornea transplant is delicate surgery involving numerous risks. But I couldn't

Two days later, Eric and I were side by side in the operating room. Four doctors, led by Dr. Rudolf Aebli, a New York eye surgeon, performed the operation. There was no guarantee of success, of course. The cornea transplant is delicate surgery involving numerous risks. But I couldn't imagine anything but a truly happy ending.

Nevertheless, in the days that followed the operation suspense tormented me. I never stopped praying. For six weeks my eyes were bandaged, and during this time I had to stay absolutely still in bed. The slightest movement of my body, the doctors warned, could seriously affect the grafting and healing process of the cornea. Fearful of a sudden sneeze or cough, I lost 22 pounds during the period of tension.

WHEN THE big day finally came, Eric was on hand for the decision. His operation already had healed. His artificial, plastic eye was in place, and the doctor had signed his discharge papers. But Eric did not leave the hospital. He'd promised to sweat out the verdict with me.

The bandages were removed, slowly, carefully. Even before the last bit of gauze was lifted I knew the answer. Yes, there was light—wonderful light. And then faces—smiling faces. My mother's, with tears rolling down her cheeks. And Eric's, creased with a wide grin—just as I always had imagined it. The gift of sight in one eye was mine again!

Eric came home with me, and we made him one of our already large family. There were stories in the newspapers about his sacrifice, and a move was started in Congress that eventually granted him permanent residence in the U.S. and a chance to become an American citizen—something he wanted dearly. Eric and I became great pals. We double-dated, went on sight-seeing trips, and even shipped out together as stewards in the merchant marine.

Meanwhile, Dr. Aebli filed an application with the Eye Bank, hopeful that a cornea would become available for my other eye.

Early in 1955, four years after the operation, when Eric and I were aboard the S.S. Bienville, off Korea, a radio message told me that my turn at the Eye Bank finally had come. A cornea was available in New York, but there was one hitch: I had to be there for the operation within 24 hours, since there is no way of preserving this tissue once it is ready for grafting. It was impossible for me to make the deadline. With heavy heart, I wired back that I would give my turn to someone else. My name went to the bottom of the list again.

After that experience, I decided to anchor at home and be on hand when my turn at the Eye Bank came again. This time the call came on Nov. 17, 1959. But now I was ready. The following day, Dr. Aebli performed the second transplant. I weathered the suspense better this time, gaining 12 pounds while waiting it out.

When the verdict came, the news once again was wonderful, and I became one of the rarities in the world—a man with two successful cornea transplants. And today I see a beautiful world through two perfect eyes, thanks to the sacrifice of my friend, Eric, and to the kindness of another donor whose identity I'll never know.

Sight is a priceless possession, the true value of which cannot be judged until you have had to live in darkness. Throughout our land thousands of Americans are waiting in this darkness for the call that will tell them a cornea is available at the Eye Bank. Many will tick off valuable years before the message comes. For some the call will never come; they will be blind forever.

The cornea supply has never caught up with the demand. This is a problem that could be overcome quickly. For every person with a healthy cornea, no matter how poor of pocket, has a rich legacy to will a fellow human—the precious gift of sight.

■ Although more than 1,000 Americans donated corneas to the Eye Bank last year for future transplant surgery, the supply continues to fall far short of the need. Countless thousands of blind or near-blind still must wait years before the chance for sight comes within their grasp.

Readers who wish to obtain additional information about the Eye Bank program may write to the Eye Bank for Sight Restoration, Inc., 210 E. 64 St., New York 21, N. Y. The people of Portuguese Bend saw their homes slowly crumble under the force of the slide.

THE TOWN THAT COULDN'T BE SAVED

IN JUNE, 1956, the residents of the flourishing seaside colony of Portuguese Bend, Calif., were settling down to a summer of carefree contentment, unaware of impending disaster.

Although tiny cracks had already appeared in their walls and flagstone terraces, the flaws were barely perceptible. It is doubtful that anyone noticing the fissures would have predicted the end result: some 120 homes disappearing into the sea, leaving a ghost town in place of a once-thriving community.

The mysterious cause was "landslide," a phenomenon that geologists claim cannot be stopped by man-made measures. When the earth slides, say the scientists, nothing and no one can keep it from running its destructive course.

Despite this fact, when the damage assumed noticeable proportions, Portuguese Bend citizens refused to believe they were helpless. Even the threat of a sudden, sharp slide didn't keep them from staying on. Victims of a disaster they could not understand, they poured time and effort and savings into endless repairs.

At the same time, the irate citizens blamed the calamity on the county. They sued, charging that elaborate county road work was directly responsible for the slide.

Whatever the cause, the process continued and the residents eventually admitted defeat. Taking everything that could be salvaged, they moved away, leaving behind them only battered shells of what had been their homes.

Ironically, though the dispute continues between the county, the former residents, and the geologists, the land around the colony had been designated a landslide area on geological maps since the early 1920s!

Each day the earth's movements brought the little community new, more terrifying destruction.
